Federal Agents Had Busy Day

Seize Still at LaGrangeville, Raid Saloon in Poughkeepsie and Seize Car Containing Alleged Apple Jack.

The Federal agents from the Kingston office on Wednesday put in another busy day seizing a still at LaGrangeville, Dutchess county, raiding a saloon at Poughkeepsie and seizing a car containing alleged apple jack at Newburgh. All of the defendants were held to appear before U. S. Commissioner Arthur C. Connolly here.

A visit to LaGrangeville was made during the day and there on the John Bruzgal farm they located a 600 gallon copper still in full operation making apple jack. The still, condenser and coils together with a pressure boiler used to operate the plant were seized together with about 200 barrels of hard cider. The entire plant together with the cider was destroyed on the premises. The plant was a fairly large one valued at some $5,000.

Mrs. Sadie Bruzgal was arrested and cited to appear before U. S. Commissioner A. C. Connolly today. Edward Bruzgal, son of the defendant, was arrested on December 6 by agents and is now out on bail charged with operating a still at the same location.

While passing through Poughkeepsie the agents stopped off at the saloon and hotel located at 20 Main street opposite the Highland-Poughkeepsie ferry landing. There they seized a quantity of liquor and beer and arrested James F. Talbot, who is the owner of the premises and resides at the same address. He was charged on a charge of possession of liquor in violation of the National Prohibition act and will be arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Connolly here.

The third visit was made at Newburgh where cooperating with the Newburgh police they seized a Hudson sedan and a small quantity of apple jack. Patsy Pagliuca of 75 South Water street, Newburgh, was arrested and held for appearance before U. S. Commissioner Grist at Middletown later.

Cases Adjudged. Mrs. Sadie Bruzgal of LaGrangeville, upon whose property a still was found by prohibition agents, and James F. Talbot of Poughkeepsie, charged with possession of illegal beverage, demanded examinations when arraigned before United States Commissioner A. C. Connolly here this morning. Mrs. Bruzgal's case was adjourned to January 11, at 2 p. m. Talbot's was set for January 14, at 10 a. m. Their bail bonds were fixed at $1,500 and $500, respectively.

LOCAL CHURCHES DISPLAY APPROPRIATE EMBLEMS

Judge Clearwater, the Historian of the city, commenting to a Freeman reporter upon the beauty of the Christmas decorations of the town, said that none was more appropriate than the electric star on the massive grey tower of the Fair Street Reformed Church. The judge added that always the churches of Kingston displayed the appropriate emblem. The steeple of the First Dutch Church and that of the Albany Avenue Baptist Church, and now that of the Fair Street Reformed Church displayed the star of Bethlehem. The Roman Catholic and Episcopal churches always had surmounted their church edifices with the cross of Calvary; the Temple Emanuel displayed the pentagram, the symbol of the universe. The judge added that the steeple of the first church edifice of the First Dutch, which was burned by the Indians in 1663, was surmounted by a gold rooster, suggesting the one whose crowing renounced Peter of his promise never to forsake the Lord. The judge has pen and ink drawing of this ancient church which came down to him from his ancestor Theunis Jacobsen Klaarwater, who was one of the petitioners for the appointment at Kingston of a dominion who could preach in both Dutch and English. The golden rooster always has surmounted the steeple of the Marble Collegiate Church at Fifth avenue and twenty-ninth street, New York city, and is a favorite emblem among the Reformed Dutch churches in all the cities of Holland.

Berkeley, Cal., Dec. 20 (AP).—Excited, because of the publicity she has received and weeping occasionally, Miss Ruth McConnell, 26, of New York, arrived here today on the Overland Limited and took a taxicab for an unannounced address.

F. E. Lane, Pullman conductor, said the young woman had confided that she was coming west for a vacation and to avoid marrying Kenneth B. Coulter, New York broker. Miss McConnell was quoted as saying that Coulter was not her uncle, as dispatches from New York had said, but was an acquaintance who had sought her hand in marriage. Lane said the girl told him she expected to go to San Francisco and become a music teacher.

Dispatches from New York and Omaha previously had said Miss McConnell had been missing from home for three weeks.

Miss McConnell dodged several reporters and cameramen waiting at Oakland to meet her by getting off the train here.

The girl was returning to Hamburg after being permitted to stay in the United States for six months as a visitor. U. S. S. Utah En Route to Rio Janeiro, Dec. 20 (AP).—Although Herbert Hoover has decided that he will not visit Havana on the present good will trip, it was stated today that he would go to the Cuban capital before his inauguration. He also was considering a visit to Mexico City and Texas before March 4.

The Utah was rolling along the Brazilian coast today at better than 19 knots. The vessel is due to dock at Rio Janeiro at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

Mr. Hoover was busy on the speech he will deliver at Rio Janeiro when formally welcomed by Dr. Washington Luis de Souza, president of Brazil. He also was engaged with matters which daily have been reaching him from the United States. His present desire was to get back to take up a multitude of subjects awaiting his attention in connection with the beginning of his administration.

The Utah will sail on the last lap of the journey home at noon Sunday. The Hoover party will spend Christmas aboard ship. The president-elect and Mrs. Hoover today were enjoying their present relaxation after the strenuous days they spent in Buenos Aires and Montevideo.

Mr. Hoover was on deck yesterday when the Utah passed the first ship sighted since leaving Montevideo. It was Spanish freighter Alameda which dipped her colors and exchanged calls with the battleship. The President-elect was much interested and took up a position beside the rail as the steamer went by with her company manning the decks.

During today the Utah will be picked up by two Brazilian light cruisers, the Bahia and the Rio Grande do Sul. These vessels will accompany the battleship to the Brazilian capital as an escort of honor. It will be the first time that the ship carrying Mr. Hoover has had an escort of more than one war craft.

Noted Actor and Playwright Dies

New York, Dec. 20 (AP).—Broadway today mourned J. Hartley Manners, playwright and actor, best known as the author of "Peg O' My Heart", one of the most popular plays ever produced in America.

His wife, Laurette Taylor, the actress, who rose to fame as Peg in her husband's play, was with him when death came last night at his home on Riverside Drive. He was 53 years old. Mr. Manners had been ill since last summer and a month ago underwent an operation. His health had failed steadily since then.

It was not until 1912 that he achieved wide fame. In that year he wrote and produced "Peg O' My Heart", starring Laurette Taylor, at that time an obscure actress, whom he had married that same year. The play had a run of 692 performances on Broadway.

It has been estimated that "Peg O' My Heart" has been played more than 500,000 times on various stages and has been translated into almost every known language. It is estimated to have earned its author more royalties than any play in the history of the theatre with the exception of "Abe's Irish Rose".

Mr. Manners wrote or collaborated in more than thirty plays.

Pope Pius 50 Years a Priest

Rome, Dec. 20 (AP).—The prize scholars of the Oratory of St. Peter, founded by the Knights of Columbus of the United States, today had a privilege unique among the Catholic youth of the world. The priest who administered their first communion to them was Pope Pius XI, who on this date entered the fiftieth year of his ministry.

The boys approached the altar rail during the Mass which the Pope said for the Milanese pilgrims, come here to celebrate the Pontiff's "Sacerdotal Jubilee". The delegation from the Lombard capital was headed by Cardinal Tosi, successor of the Pope as Archbishop of Milan.

Later today there will be a solemn ceremony at San Carlo Al Corso Church, where the Pope, who was then Achille Ratti, said his first Mass.

Tomorrow Cardinal Tosi and his band of pilgrims will attend the formal dedication of the Pontifical Lombard Seminary on the Esquiline Hill, an institution which the Pope has actively promoted.

The ceremony at Saint Peter's was attended by Cardinals, members of the Ratti family and of the diplomatic corps accredited to the Holy See, representatives of the Roman nobility, and numerous prelates representing religious institutes and orders as well as a large congregation of the faithful.

King George Had Good Night's Rest

Slow Upward Trend Was Continuing Today—Prince George Expected To Reach Palace in Time For Tea.

London, Dec. 20 (AP).—The slow upward trend in King George's condition was continuing today. This morning's bulletin, which again announced that his majesty had a good night's rest, was the fifth successive one in which a slight improvement was recorded.

This indication of steady, if small, gain for the king was cheering news for the public, while in palace circles there was an air of greater optimism, although it has been repeatedly made clear that anxiety must continue until the patient has gained more strength.

It was certain today that all of the king's sons, who had been scattered over the earth when he was stricken, would be at Buckingham palace for Christmas. Prince George, who was 26 today, was expected to reach the palace in time for tea. He was coming to England from New York aboard the liner Berengaria.

The Duke of Gloucester is due to reach England Sunday. In spite of their worries and keeping close to the palace day after day, the queen and Princess Mary, who has remained with her mother throughout the king's illness, have found time to do their Christmas shopping. They sent gifts to their friends and remembered the poor with clothes and children in the hospitals with playthings.

Gold Rush Stops Street Repairing

Seattle, Dec. 20 (AP).—A gold rush stopped street repairing operations at Washington street and First avenue south for several hours yesterday when a workman turned up a gold nugget with his shovel. Jobless on-lookers saw him make the find and the stampede was on.

Over the site of what once had been the "M & N" saloon and gambling house, a Mecca of returning prospectors during the Klondike gold rush, fighting crowds of men re-enacted the scenes in the north of 30 years ago on a miniature scale.

The muddy street yielded cold nuggets, gold chains, gold coins, South American currency, lockets, rings, necklaces and brooches, and brought Christmas to that part of town where December 25 is just another day without work.

Old timers suggested that the treasure uncovered was lost by patrons of the "M & N" three decades ago and probably had slipped through floor cracks and become buried in the mud under the building.

Ax Smashing Saloon Is Signal For Dry Crusade In Kansas City

A dry crusade is under way in Kansas City because Mrs. Maude Wilson (upper right) smashed with ax a saloon. Inspired by sight of the battered bar (upper left), ministers are calling attention to violation of prohibition laws from the pulpit, with signs such as that shown below. All this is taking place in a city from which Carrie A. Nation (lower right) was driven back to Kansas a quarter of a century ago.

MINT ABANDONMENT RECALLS GOLDEN DAYS

Carson City, Nev. (AP)—Silent, brooding, gray, the United States mint building here stands in massive silence as a reminder of the days of silver and Nevada's golden age of mining.

The treasury department of the United States has recommended its complete abandonment. For nearly two decades only two persons have used the building—a secretary of the civil service commission and an assayer.

The recommendation for its abandonment includes omission of an appropriation for the assayer. The civil service clerk would move to the federal building a few blocks away, thus emptying the structure.

The building of the mint, starting in 1866, was heralded as an event of major importance and meant great prosperity to Carson City in those hectic days of Comstock booms. But mines do not yield precious metals forever and evil days fell upon mining in Nevada.

On September 24, 1866, the Masonic lodge of Carson City laid the cornerstone of the mint. From this cornerstone arose a large building, covering a block, constructed of granite from the state prison quarry. It was opened in 1868 to receive

PRAIRIE MOUNDS LURE ARCHEOLOGIST TO DIG.

Poteau, Okla. (AP)—Customs of a pre-historic Indian race, that apparently dwelt in "crawling" villages, are to be investigated by the Oklahoma Historical Society in cooperation with the Smithsonian Institution.

Numerous mounds are found on the prairies of Eastern Oklahoma. J. B. Thoburn, curator of the Oklahoma Historical Society, and Dr. Leslie Spier, head of the department of anthropology at the University of Oklahoma, plan to excavate several of them at Spiro, near the Arkansas state line.

Thoburn believes the mounds are ruins of dwellings. They were built with timber frameworks and earthen roofs, he says, and as their interior atmospheric condition was similar to that of a cave, the supporting timbers decayed rapidly, eventually causing the roofs to fall, then, the curator declares, a new house would be built on the other side of the village, causing it to move progressively.

Excavations made by Thoburn support his theory. He has found six skeletons in one mound, indicating the occupants of a house perished when the roof collapsed.

Thoburn believes the ruins are less than 1,000 years old and that the dwellers were members of the Caddoan race, which reached a high state of civilization in Mexico.

"It Has Improved My Health In General" Says A Nearby Lady

Mrs. D. Price Relates How The New Medicine Quickly Relieved All Of Her Health Troubles.

"For many years I suffered from stomach, liver and nervous troubles," said Mrs. D. Price, Box 59-A, Stone Ridge, N. Y., in a recent interview with the Nu-Erb specialist at McBride Drug Store, 312 Wall Street.

"Severe indigestion after meals causing me to have pains through my stomach and chest. Formations of gas, bloating me so that at times my clothes were too tight. I suffered from heartburn, sourness, spots before my eyes and staggering dizzy spells. I was subject to splitting headaches that lasted for days at a time and my nerves were so unstrung that I was irritable, couldn't bear the least noise or excitement and slept poorly at night.

"After many other medicines had failed to help me, Nu-Erb has given me the first real relief from these troubles. It has put an end to that awful gas and relieved the indigestion, sourness, heartburn, dizzy spells and floating spots before my eyes. I now have a splendid appetite. My nerves are stronger. I sleep soundly all night long and feel refreshed and rested when I awake in the morning. I have not had a headache since I started with Nu-Erb and my entire health in general has improved wonderfully. I will gladly recommend this splendid medicine to others."

When the stomach, kidneys, liver or bowels are not functioning properly they fail to do their work as nature intended. Nu-Erb tones and strengthens the vital organs and drives poisonous waste matter from the system. Nu-Erb is pleasant to take and the results are quickly felt.

McBride Drug Store, 312 Wall Street, is headquarters in Kingston for Nu-Erb. Go see the Nu-Erb man now making his headquarters there and let him explain to you the merits of this remarkable medicine.

FINE WOMEN

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

YES, I have seen fine women, seen. If not a queen, then near a queen. If gowns can make one queen's—at At number dinners, and all that. Have even danced a dance or two With dames with nothing else to do. Have seen fine women, I am told. Who buy their beauty with their gold.

And—well, I must be fool or sage: For that has seemed an empty page In all my living. Where, I thought, Is anything these hands have wrought? And all their laughter bright and gay. Their very kindness, seemed for pay. If one would wear the glossy fur Of idleness, then one must purr.

Yes, I have seen fine women. Where It does not matter, but not there; The mothers that the earth owed more Than earth had ever paid them for. The wives who helped to toil and save. Who something gained but something gave.

And girls for whom great deeds were done—

And all fine women, every one.

(C) 1928, Douglas Malloch

An Attractive Coat Is Fashioned of Muskrat

Muskkrat is the material used to fashion this charming coat designed for the cold wintry blasts. The wide cuff is featured on the new bell sleeve and the becoming roll collar can be worn high or open at the throat.

Lining Is Important in Frocks of Velvet, Silk

Linings have an important part in the winter fashions. Many of the evening frocks of velvet and silk are lined—that is, so far as the lower part of the skirt is concerned. For the skirt that is shorter in front than at the back shows so much of it inside that a lining is almost essential.

For instance, a black velvet evening gown touching the floor at the back and then gradually rising until it is short at the front, is lined with silver cloth. Two bands of ribbon, an inch and a half wide, one mauve, the other peacock blue, are used around the lower edge of the lining.

Another effective black velvet evening gown that makes clever use of the lining idea has two big velvet bows, one on the hip, one on the bodice above the hip. The velvet for these bows is lined with beige taffeta. Then the bows are worn wrong side out, so that they are taffeta bows lined with black velvet. A great loop, with two ends. The taffeta makes the velvet stiff, the velvet makes the taffeta heavy. The effect is unusual and interesting.

There are heavily embroidered crepe shawls lined with the softest white fur. Sometimes these shawls are also narrowly hemmed with fur. But the fur is subordinate to the design of the embroidery, and is quite obviously used for warmth more than for decoration. It is the softest, quietest sort of white.

Belting Touches Add to Sports Duds of Season

One of the most interesting phenomena of the new sports clothes is the belt.

In the productions of the French houses there is really no such thing as a hackneyed belt. Let us take a few examples. From one of the smaller houses comes a sports frock of tweed mixture distinguished by the raglan sleeves and the fringed edges that are now so much exploited in this domain. This is set off by a narrow belt of black pony fur. Incidentally, one must comment upon the fact that pony is not restricted to the production of fur coats. It serves also sometimes as trimming touches in the spirit of this belt.

But to go on. There is a brand new belt composed by Schiaparelli which is made of black horse hair, clasped and buckled in silver. Any sports frock would come off well at the hands of such a brand-new touch and also would it benefit by numerous other belting touches of the hour. Among these one must not forget the belt matched by bracelet and necklace. The latter set consists of leather belt with round glass balls and bracelet and necklace of matching glass balls in smaller size.

Evening Winter Wraps in Interesting Models

Furs now take on paramount importance in fashions. This is largely because the old furs "will not do," this year. The uneven hemline has relegated them to the background or to the remodeler's. For example, there are the evening wraps. They must be long in the back, since evening frocks almost hit the ground behind. Therefore, the newest ermine cape is cut away in front like a man's morning coat and edged with white fox, which emphasizes the sweeping line of the hem.

Cape Back

A new light red crepe satin evening gown is fastened with a cape back and panel sash ends that flare and round and fall below the hem in the back.

Suppressed Giggles

"When a young man goes to call on a girl he always hears a suppressed giggle from her brothers and sisters in the adjoining room, when he first enters the house," says the Atlanta Tribune. Only sometimes it isn't very well suppressed.

Persian Women Reach for Greater Liberty

Isfahan, Persia.—Equal rights for Persian women has become the dominant question of public interest, with bewildering suddenness.

Reform projects are said to be ready for presentation at the next session of the Persian parliament here. There is evidence that public opinion would welcome a change.

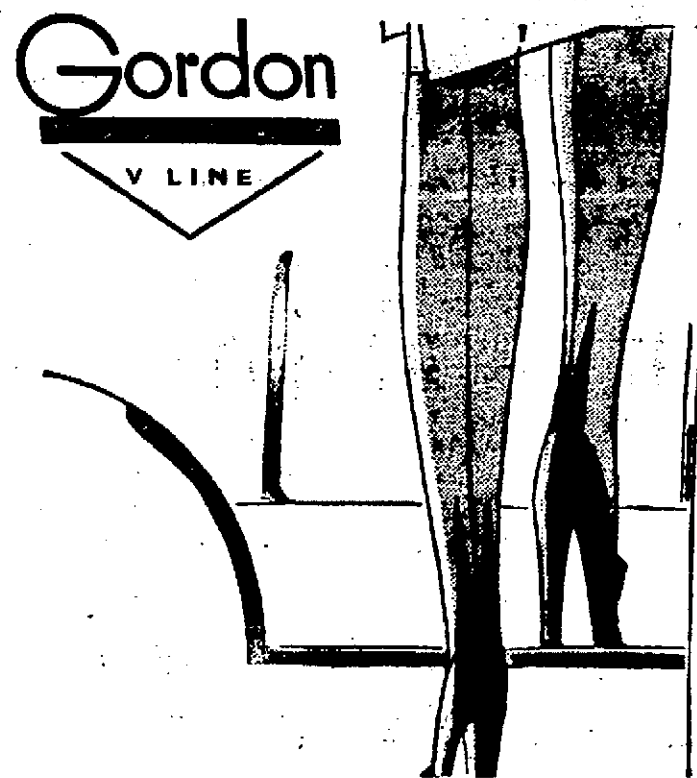

Persia, moreover, as the greatest All-Moslem state, would stimulate the movement toward the emancipation of women in all countries of the Orient. The change has gained great momentum in Teheran, where it is no longer an uncommon thing for women to attend theatrical performances and enter cafes.

Teeth and Tools in Sale

Elephant tusks, hippopotamus teeth and rhinoceros horns changed owners in a sale held recently at Antwerp, Belgium. In all, more than 10,000 pounds of ivory, 2,000 pounds of teeth and 200 pounds of horns were sold. Teeth suitable for making billiard balls, and known as "billiard teeth," were in some demand.

MORE GOSPEL FROM KANSAS.

Though we might hesitate to say that the reformers never cease from troubling, it is at least pertinent to remark that they are always with us and are never satisfied. Here is Miss Lorraine Elizabeth Wooster, former Kansas State Superintendent of Instruction, militantly proclaiming not only that tobacco in any form is bad but that its use is illegal and unconstitutional. She finds basis for her surprising conclusion in the fact that under the food and drugs act of 1906, the transportation in interstate commerce, and under various State pure food and drug laws, the sale of and intrastate traffic in unwholesome and harmful foods, vegetables, medicine, etc., are forbidden. Then all she has to do is to add her own unqualified assertion that tobacco is extremely unwholesome and its use is dangerous.

Anyone daring to question such logic will doubtless be told that tobacco is convicted, like opium, by the mere fact that it gives comfort and pleasure to its infatuated victims, and that therefore its prohibition is the duty of the government. From this it is but a short step to the conclusion that tobacco, as the twin brother of rum, equally merits abolition through a constitutional amendment. Denial of this new gospel ill befits especially those stern liquor prohibitionists who are now weakly smoking and chewing their lives away. If they are consistent, how can they shut their eyes to the truth discovered and solemnly announced by the infallible Miss Wooster? She offers rescue to them as well as to the ungodly, but it is easy to foresee on the part of a sizable majority of them procrastination which she will consider both weak-kneed and reprehensible.

THE VOTE OF MASSACHUSETTS

In an editorial discussion of "The Election a Month After," the Springfield Republican finds consolation in the reflection that, although Massachusetts gave its vote to Governor Smith and elected Senator Walsh, Democrat, the State remained "normally" Republican, the Republicans electing the Governor, holding both branches of the legislature and carrying 14 of the 16 Congressional districts. In explanation of the success of Governor Smith and Senator Walsh, the Springfield Republican in part says: "What happened in Massachusetts this year, to account in part at least for the result of the election, was that the Republican State leadership abandoned at the outset a fight against Governor Smith on the main issue he presented... The defeat of the Republicans by Governor Smith was deserved because in the very referendum on prohibition which was initiated by Republican politicians the people voted wet."

Blaming Republican leaders of an "essentially dry" party for initiating a referendum on prohibition fails to dispose of the fact that Massachusetts is "a wet State," as the Springfield paper itself concedes, and further reports that "men like Mr. Rascob are hoping to follow up their wet drive of 1925 with a new anti-prohibition Democratic offensive in the next Presidential campaign," adding that "the result this year in Massachusetts encourages them in such an enterprise." On this it could appropriately be commented that the result in the majority of the other States can hardly be said to give "men like Mr. Rascob" similar encouragement.

Until the recent election, and with the exception of 1916, the Socialist vote in this country had steadily increased since 1900. In that year, it is shown, Debs received $4,000, the number increasing to $20,000 by 1908, and to $37,000 by 1912. In 1916 Debs received only $55,000, but in 1920 the vote for Debs ran up to $19,000. In 1924 there was no real test because La Follette incited many Socialist votes in the nearly five million that he received. In the recent election the Socialist vote for the Norman Thomas ticket was only $60,000, or less than one-third of the votes received by Debs in 1920. Yet on November 7 Norman Thomas announced that the Democratic party, which had polled the greatest popular vote in its history, was "done for." On the contrary, it looks as if the Socialist party, if not actually "done for," has little to hope for in this country now that after 25 years of effort, it is in numbers back to about where it started, allowing for the more than doubling of the electorate in the meanwhile.

The gold medal of the English Poetry Society has not been awarded to any of the young poets who submitted verses because all the offerings were too "gloomy." But how could anything approximating rhythmical passages of joy be expected from young poets? Strong in the possession of youth, which is unconsciously expected to last always, they can afford to be gloomy in outlook and inevitably they turn toward tragic themes in such interesting contrast with their own well-being.

At the opening of the International Civil Aeronautics Conference in Washington Orville Wright, the first man who actually flew a heavier-than-air machine, "grinned in his shy way" when his unobtrusive late arrival was cheered. And Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh "tried to hide himself in the crowds." Herein we have one more reminder that the really great are modest and retiring, only the would-be great being self-assertive, over-confident and "pushing."

The election comment has shown that the uses of adversity are ever more thoroughly appreciated by those acquainted therewith only by hearsay. The completest satisfaction is always in the discipline of the other fellow.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

BY
 James W. Barton, M. D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act)
 KNOWING CHILDREN.

In these days when young folks have the idea that they know more than their parents, which as a matter of fact, has always been the way of the world, it would be interesting to know how much truth there is in the idea itself.

You will remember that the millions of children that go to school every day are being taught facts about health, their bodies, food, ventilation, sleep, and exercise, that were not even known to teachers in our schooldays.

And even the facts that were known were not taught in your day.

Now we see the National Education Association, which includes teachers of United States and Canada, having as one of the planks in its platform "health, hygiene, and a knowledge of the structure and function of the human body, are fundamental to human happiness. This knowledge creates a reverence for the body, begets cleanliness in home and surroundings, prevents disease by watchful care, and creates a respect for the other fellow's rights."

The school often discovers for the parents the health assets and liabilities of the child. You can readily understand that the recognition of defects at this time may prevent years of misery and unhappiness.

A recent editorial says "What a pity that the adults of our generation could not have had a similar opportunity."

The great problem of the present day is to make parents know as much as their children are learning about the body in health and disease. So apparently this is one place, where the growing boy and girl is getting first hand knowledge that was denied his parents.

As has been so often said "No matter how much ambition, how much brains you have, you can only go as far in your pursuits as that body of yours will take you."

Health is your biggest asset. All that is asked of you in keeping it is a little common sense and the use of the ever present knowledge of health now within your possession.

TWENTY AND TEN YEARS AGO.

Dec. 20, 1908—While the Rev. P. B. Strong was preaching the evening service at the Albany Avenue Baptist Church burglars stripped his house of silverware.

Joe Lawson, colored teamster, employed at Brown's Station, shot over a card game.

Professor George C. Wilson of Port Henry and Miss Nina Stouteburgh married at home of bride on Clifton avenue.

Dec. 20, 1918—Miss Inez Smith a former school teacher of this city died suddenly at her home in New York city.

Herbert B. Birchler resigned as Boy Scout executive to accept a position in Poughkeepsie.

Captain John Mc Ginn, widely known river man died at Benedictine Hospital.

Captain Frederick A. Miller of the steamer Homer Ramsdell, died at his home in Newburgh.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

By F. A. WALKER

YOUR LEISURE HOURS

HOW do you spend the time that is yours after you leave the daily "grind," pull down the desk lid, or powder your nose?

The average worker, clerk, typist, salesperson and all manner of employees, give forty-eight hours a week to the common pursuit of money-getting. This leaves them 120 hours a week, including Sunday, in which without restraint they may follow their individual bent.

What is done with these 120 hours? Are they spent in empty corrupting amusement, without a thought of improving the mind, or considering future possibilities?

It is not work that incapacitates and bars the way to success, but rounds of glittering pleasures, rackets and debasing merry-making, growing each year more harmful and degrading.

Recently in New York a young woman shot and killed her boon companion and herself because of disgust with what is termed "high life," nothing more or less than dissipation. This poor, self-deluded girl sought the pace that kills.

Thousands of others like her, indifferent to the dreadful warning, are pursuing the same course, entangled in the net of frivolity and being carried swiftly to destruction.

If this terrible net is encircling you, seeking to draw you down to an untimely death, flee from it with all your speed, while yet you have strength to escape.

Give heed to the means that are all about you.

In those 120 hours a week that are yours to do with as you please, seek pure companionship, read good books, hear uplifting music, court instruction and guard carefully both body and soul.

You cannot obtain success nor move upward to the clear atmosphere at the top of the peaks, unless you do these things and keep pressing ahead. To pause is to risk opportunity, for while you are still, the steady-plodding, faithful souls will pass you.

What you will be tomorrow depends on what you are doing today. You are the one who in later years must reap the harvest from the seed you are sowing now, and it depends on you alone whether the harvest shall be one of regret, or one of gladness, thanksgiving and song.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

New York—It will be a busy new year for Allan A. Ryan, Jr., who has inherited a fortune from his grandfather, Thomas Fortune Ryan. Having operated successfully in the stock market, he is starting an investment banking firm with Charles H. Sablin, Jr., a banker's son, on January 1, and on February 5 he is getting married to Miss Janet Newbold of Washington.

Chicago—The cost of accidents to the American people is estimated at $1,200,000,000 annually by the National Safety Council. They divided as follows: Industrial $1,000,000,000; home, $550,000,000; automobile, $500,000,000; fires, $550,000,000.

New York—Uncle Sam is very strict about the importation of alcohol, but under some circumstances he can be persuaded. Mrs. William Lancaster, wife of a British officer brought with her to this country the compass which guided her husband on a flight to Australia. A customs inspector noted on the compass the words "use only pure alcohol." First he said the instrument must be confiscated, then that the alcohol must be poured out. Her husband carefully explained to the inspector's superior that it was a delicate accurate floating compass which he wished to use again in flights and it might be spoiled if the alcohol were poured out. The compass finally was admitted intact.

Boston—Time was when clipper ships out of Boston took rum to Africa to trade with the negroes—Medford rum. The three-masted schooner Marion L. Conrad is taking rum for the same trade, but it is bay rum, just one of a variety of articles, including razors.

New York—Gil Boag, who is being sued for divorce in Wisconsin by Gilda Gray of the movies, has a shiner, a big black eye which he describes as a Christmas card from Gilda. He says two men beat him up when he was leaving a restaurant; insists they described the beating as a Christmas present from Gilda. He likes the present so well he intends to go to Port Washington, Wis., and prove by income tax returns that Gilda is a resident of New York and can't sue in Wisconsin.

Warsaw—Two train dispatchers had dispute as to which freight should have the right of way. Neither would give in. The result was that two trains met head on. Four trainmen were killed and 32 cars smashed.

New York—Broadway has been informed that Maude Adams intends to return to the stage, giving readings from plays in which she starred. C. L. Wagner, who has been mentioned as manager of her tour, says the project is not ready to be discussed.

Amarillo, Texas—S. D. Turner, game warden, is on the trail of flying hunters. He has heard that an army officer hunted geese from an airplane and that fliers have skimmed low to kill antelope.

BUSINESS GIRLS' CLUB PLANS MANY ACTIVITIES.

The Business Girls' Club of the Y. W. C. A. held its last supper before the holiday season on Wednesday. Miss Messenger, president of the club, announced that there would be no more meetings until the one on January 9, when the entertainment would be in the form of a mock debate. On January 16, the Business Girls will hold their annual bridge party, to which all the friends of the Y are invited. It is hoped that Kingston women will keep this date in mind as the proceeds of the party are devoted to club work throughout the year. Miss Messenger also spoke of the party to be given on Saturday for 100 children of the city and asked as many of the girls to be present as possible.

Miss Ellen Van Slyke was the speaker and gave a very inspiring talk on Bethlehem, Jerusalem and Nazareth—places she had personally visited on her trip last winter. Her talk was a real Christmas message, as many of the places she visited were those most closely associated with our thoughts at this season.

MUM! WHAT? JUNIOR! OH! I FORGOT HE'S STILL OUT. WELL, DON'T WORRY, HE'S PROBABLY SOLICITING NEW SUBSCRIBERS, AND... HERE HE COMES NOW...

YES... HE HAD A RED NOSE AND BLACK EYE...

JUST WHAT I THOUGHT, JUNIOR WAS HELPING THAT BIG BUM OF A SUPERINTENDENT I MOPPED UP... SLIPPED ON THE SIDEWALK... TO THINK OF HIM WORRYING US TO DEATH BY HAVING JUNIOR WASTE TIME LOOKING FOR HIS WALLET.

WINTER GRAFTING

1. Cions for cleft grafting. 2. Cions for cleft grafting with cions in place. 3. Cions properly placed. 4. Completed, banded cleft graft. 5. Cions prepared for bridge grafting. 6. Cions properly placed and secured. 7. Completed, waxed bridge graft.

Geneva, N. Y., Dec. 20.—With the close of the growing season, fruit growers and nurserymen are turning their attention to winter work, including pruning, grafting, and indoor propagation. H. B. Tukey, horticulturist at the Experiment Station at Geneva in charge of the station investigations with nursery stocks, has a few timely suggestions to make in this connection.

Says Mr. Tukey: "Much is heard about changing old or unprofitable varieties to standard sorts better suited to market demands. Or perhaps one wishes to obtain fruit of some of the new varieties developed by the station and offered by the New York Fruit Testing Cooperative Association, without waiting for young trees to come into bearing. In either case, top-working by the placing of grafts in bearing trees is the accepted procedure.

"For work of this kind there are different grafts possible, such as the whip graft and the cleft graft, each suitable for some particular need. For small branches the whip graft is best and for medium-sized branches the cleft graft. If bridge grafting becomes necessary because of some injury, it will be necessary to have dormant cions for late spring work, and cion wood must be selected and stored so as to keep it fresh yet dormant.

"Those interested in indoor grafting, using dormant roots and cions, must have secured dormant seedling roots and dormant cion wood so that the work can be carried on at convenient times during the winter season, while those who raise grapes and other similar plants from hardwood cuttings will have secured their stock and packed it away for callusing before severe weather sets in."

Mr. Tukey has just recently issued a brief, popular circular on the propagation of plants which may be had free of charge upon request to the station.

A 24-hour deposit service has been announced by a Richmond, Va., bank in an effort to prevent week-end robberies of its patrons.

SANDWICH, NOT ORATORY, USED IN BID FOR OFFICE.

Dallas, Texas (AP)—J. Waddy Tate, who distributed "hot dog" sandwiches among voters when he ran for mayor of Dallas two years ago, is again a candidate for the office.

Tate set an example in the previous campaign by abandoning oratory and playing host to more than 5,000 voters at an outdoor meeting. "Hot dogs" were served the crowd. When the ballots were counted

Tate ended third, but he hopes to distribute more "hot dogs" in this campaign.

Manufactured Rubber

There has been manufactured rubber in the world for a little more than a hundred years. In 1819 Thomas Hancock began what is known now as the rubber industry. His first place of business was a little back shop in Goswell Street, London. Investigations in rubber process also were conducted about this time by Macintosh and Goodyear.

Fancy Dry-Picked-Plump and Meaty

TURKEYS

Raised in Minnesota, where the early frosts drove "him" into the barnyard early enough for the farmer to fatten.

The "turkey aristocracy"—the very pick of the flocks—comes to Schaffer's for our Holiday patrons. "He" and his "relatives" have a thin white skin which barely conceals the little patches of creamy fat—a true indication of the pampered life they have led and an assurance of juicy tenderness and savory meat. And they have been dry-picked—and boxed for their ride from Minnesota—quite a contrast to the common birds that come in barrels.

When a Schaffer turkey comes from the oven on Christmas Day, fragrant with the aroma of spicy stuffing, every one agrees that it is delicious.

Schaffer's Turkey Flavor Guaranteed

You buy more than a turkey from Schaffer's—you buy a satisfactory dinner! Not only do we guarantee the condition and quality of every turkey when you receive it, but its flavor as well—even after it is served.

Events Around The Empire State

By The Associated Press.
Newark (AP)—It's your own fault if you run out of gasoline in Wayne county. A check of gasoline stations by the county sealer disclosed 372 filling stations, one for every 120 miles of road in the county.

Hornell (AP)—An unidentified person has mailed $2 to Clyde E. Shults, secretary of the Hornell Fair Association, to pay for admissions to last year's fair. The anonymous donor admitted crashing the gate on several occasions and said the incident had preyed on his mind.

Klens (AP)—Raymond Edmunds of Keene Valley has captured 22 foxes so far this season for which he received $100. Some were hurt so little he was able to sell them alive.

Wolcott (AP)—Harold Francisco won the county pancake-eating championship at a social in the local Methodist Church by eating 31 cakes to say nothing of the accompanying country-fried sausage and fried cakes. He was awarded first prize—two pounds of sausage meat. The young ladies of the church admitted perpetrating the hoax, claiming that Francisco had eaten up all the profits of the social.

Syracuse (AP)—Professor Karl C. Leebrick of the University of Hawaii, who is on leave of absence for two years during which he is acting professor in international relations at Syracuse University, is presiding over the Pacific Institute of International Relations on the Pacific Coast.

Glens Falls (AP)—This city has placed a watchman on duty day and night in Crandall Park to protect the city's trees from persons who would rather chop down Christmas trees than buy one. Last year, although a watchman was on duty at night, two trees were cut down.

Corinth (AP)—This village has two names—Palmer and Corinth. It originally was known as Palmer Falls. A sign in front of the post office in Palmer avenue proclaims the village to be Palmer, N. Y., while for the benefit of airplanes the words "Corinth, N. Y." have been painted on the roof of the community building.

CHRISTMAS VERSES
Christmas time is jolly
I don't care much for jolly—
But, boy, the mistletoe!
Christmas comes with snow and ice,
With sub-zero and all that's nice,
But gosh, it almost gives me chills.
To think it also comes with hills.
"Dear Santa Claus," wrote little Ned,
"I do not want a Christmas sled,
'Cause if you bet, would mean for me,
Two blue eyes up high and you see,
She sent him a beautiful lamp shade,
Handfasted from shelves of lawn,
This present to her was a razor,
Which he got with silver coupons.
When Aunt Anna's socks arrive
And arid sinks to zero,
Remember that the spirit's there,
And wear 'em like a hero.
The cheerful Christmas frame of mind
Is really quite an art;
Some folks have "merry" on their lips
And murder in their heart.
Is this jolly Christmas season,
Though the skies be fair above,
Young men's fancies—there's a reason,
Lightly turn from thoughts of love.

Nothing but the Truth.
The prosecuting attorney had encountered a rather difficult witness. At length exasperated by the man's evasive answers, he asked him whether he was acquainted with any of the jury.
"Yes, sir," replied the witness; "more than half of them."
"Are you willing to swear that you know more than half of them?" demanded the man of law.
The other thought quickly.
"It comes to that," he replied.
"I am willing to swear that I know more than all of 'em put together!"

JACK-IN-THE-BOX
Some trouble pops up from a dark hiding place.
It may look quite real with its horrible face.
But "keep on your shirt" and also your socks.
It really is only a "Jack-in-the-Box".
When you're "sitting pretty" it springs out at you.
But don't get muddled by a mere childish "Boo".
When it grins in derision as at you it mocks.
Just say, "Pooh, for you, you're a Jack-in-the-Box".
Just put on the lid of "Go-after-and-fight",
Or "good-sense-of-humor" and maybe, "sit tight".
Use "Pluck" and "I'll-do-it" as strong double locks.
Our troubles collapse like a "Jack-in-the-Box".

"I feel like a stepchild since the new baby came", is the message on the rear of a model T Ford.

Is there anything more beautiful than a child's laugh.

The handicap hardest for a young man to overcome is a tenor voice.

Here's a secret: Women don't want men to understand 'em.

Scotsman: Three dollars to take out a front tooth? I should say not; I'll pick a fight on my way home.

BRANT PLENTIFUL ON COAST AT HATTERAS.

Ocracoke, N. C. (AP)—Brant, a species of wild waterfowl that has long baffled ornithologists, are more plentiful this year than ever before, says Capt. Bill Gaskill, veteran sportsman and guide. He bases his opinion on observations during the last 50 years.

Very little is known of the migration habits of the birds. Where they go in the spring of the year is unknown to scientists, although it is believed they go to the northern part of Labrador.

In the fall of the year they are seldom seen farther south than the Pamlico Sound, from Hatteras, N. C., to a point 20 miles down the coast. In the spring, however, they are plentiful in the vicinity of Long Island Sound as they migrate north.

An Antiquity Party.

Rockland, Me. (AP)—A resident of Hope recently reported seeing a "25-year-old 'colt' being shod by a 75-year-old blacksmith in a 109-year-old blacksmith shop. The smith was using a 125-year-old vise and a 150-year-old anvil. An 85-year-old visitor was an interested spectator."

Buy Pearl Unwaxed.
Elliott, Iowa (AP)—Oysters have attained sudden popularity here because Mrs. J. R. Neeks found a pearl in a quart of oysters she bought at a meat market.

You Can't Help But Wish for the Delta Handi-Shop

One of the most fascinating and profitable diversions or hobbies is some form of creative activity. Woodworking, an art as old as civilization itself, is a most popular hobby. With the Delta Handi-Shop, electrically driven, the last vestige of labor is removed from your hobby. Following are some of the features of the Delta Handi-Shop:

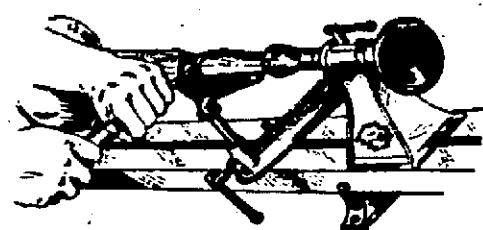

A feature of the Delta Handi-Shop is the big, accurately balanced sanding disc which makes sanding an easy task. The uses for a sanding disc are too numerous to mention, but suffice to say, many time sanding will take the place of a plane or other tool when only a small amount of material is to be removed.

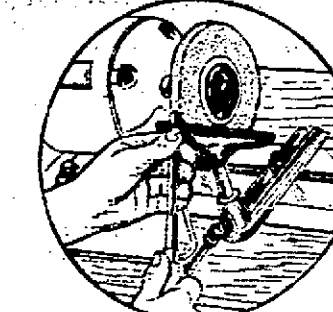

The jig saw attachment to the Delta Handi-Shop is excellent for all kinds of fancy scroll sawing. It will cut pieces up to 1 1/2 inch thick. Inside designs or cutouts can easily be made by inserting the saw blade through a small hole drilled into the work piece.

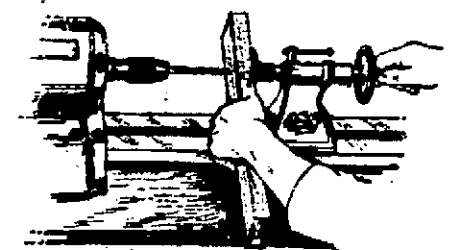

You will love to do wood turning with the Delta Handi-Shop. All kinds of spindle turning, face plate turning, screw center turning, beading, etc., can be done with equal facility. Enough space is provided between points so that a complete table leg can be turned in one operation.

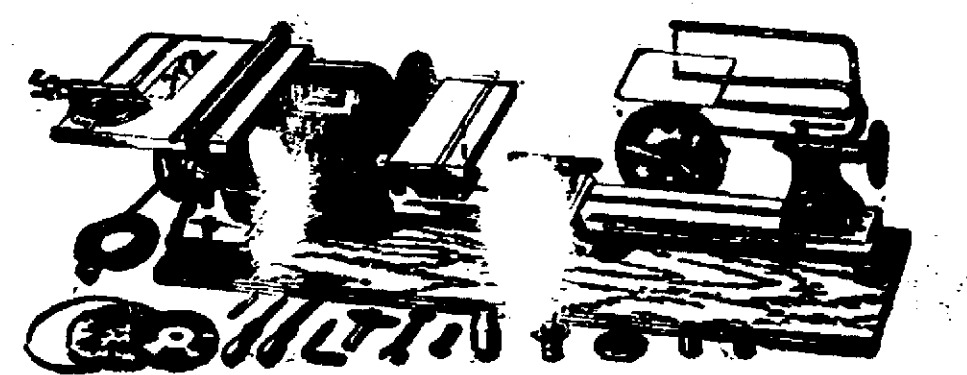

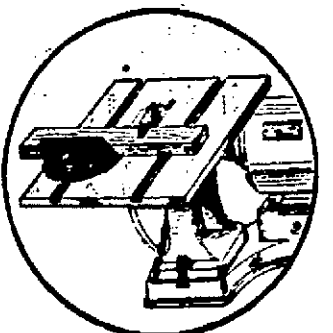

The adaptability of the Delta Handi-Shop to household needs is exemplified by the grinding and buffing wheels. With the grinding wheel, kitchen knives are always sharp, and with the buffing wheel you can polish silverware and hundreds of other articles.

Accuracy in drilling is assured with the Delta Handi-Shop. The drill chuck has an exceptionally large capacity and will hold a drill up to 1/2 inch in diameter securely. Not only can the drill be used for wood, but finds ready application in drilling steel or other metals.

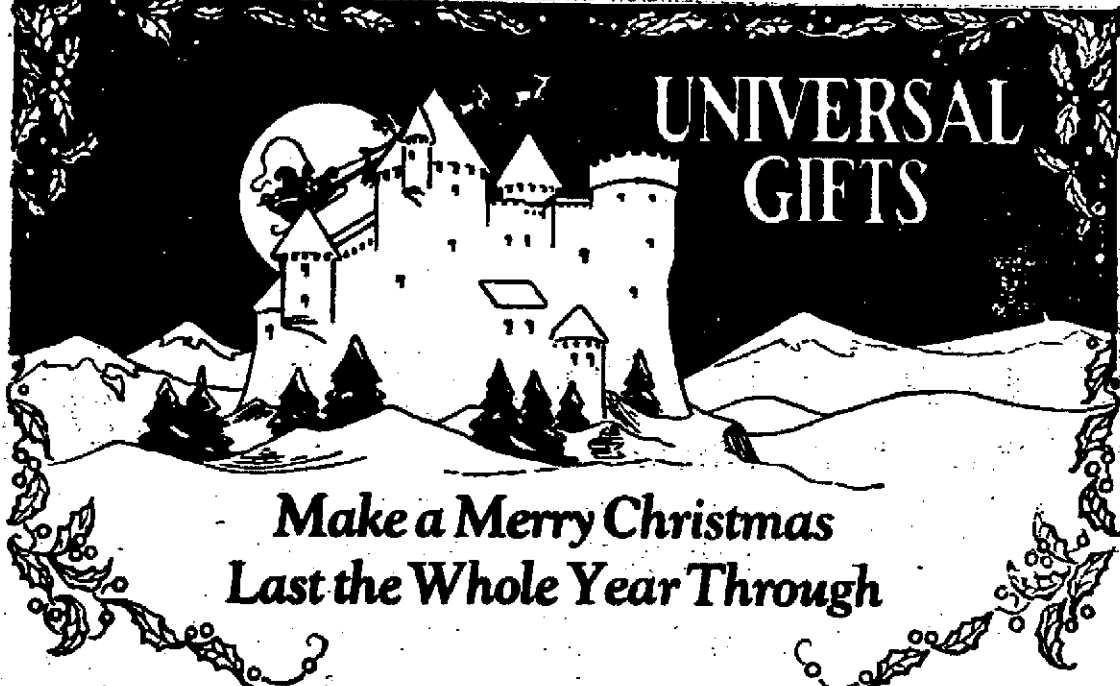

With the circular saw of the Delta Handi-Shop you can easily do ripping, cross-cutting, plain and angular grooving, beveling, plain and compound mitering, jointing, dovetailing, and all other simple or more complicated details of cabinet making where a circular saw can be used.

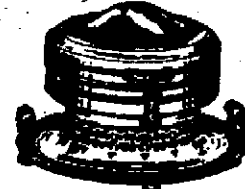

THE DELTA HANDI-SHOP illustrates the latest development in electrical equipment in the modern home. Price so low as to meet any Christmas budget, it makes a gift that will become increasingly useful and entertaining.

The spirit of Christmas is most charmingly expressed by the giving of remembrances that are useful as well as beautiful—and will be enjoyed every day of the year.

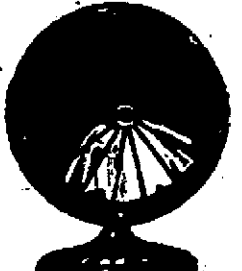

If this remembrance is for a woman nothing you choose could be more appropriate than a UNIVERSAL Electric Percolating Urn Set, Waffle Iron, Toaster or any similar electric ware.

Each UNIVERSAL Electric Appliance is a household necessity which brightens the home with its handsome appearance, and ministers daily to the comfort of its owner and her family—each is an ideal gift.

GOOD PICKINGS IN N. Y. SUBWAY

Beggars, Under Guise of World War Veterans, Find Sympathetic Ears.

New York.—The subway market, as it is called among professionals, is profitable. Perhaps of all the beggars peddling in the subway the one under the guise of World War veterans attracts the most sympathy. Every one feels responsible. And both men and women prove how genuine they are by tossing coins into the proffered hat of the professional beggar.

In any of New York's crowded subways, almost any afternoon, down the aisle, leaning heavily on his crutches, one might see a man as to reveal many handicaps, comes a cripple. He is such a pitiful looking being. And there is no doubt as to his genuineness. The badge on his coat proves conclusively that he is a veteran of the World War. Every one is stirred. Men suddenly recall war days. Terrible that this should be the result. The sight of the man, dirty and unkempt, dragging himself about, makes the women a little ill, but they, too, are touched. Hands reach into pockets. Coins are fished out. Women fumble in their bags.

The "cripple" distributes a pitiful little joke book as he makes his way down the car. The joke book has on it a legend of a starving wife, a noble war hero. Soon he comes back and collects the coins that usually accompany the book. No one bothers to keep it.

Beggars Ambitious.

Benjamin Cohen, now serving time at Welfare Island, was one of these mendicant "veterans." He should have known when he was well off. Had he been content to garner coins from subway passengers he might still be earning a comfortable livelihood. Takings ranged from $10 a day upward. But Cohen was ambitious. The Grand Central Subway station offered better opportunities. More throngs of people passed constantly. They would be generous. They were. Cohen averaged $25 a day here.

But among these thousands of sympathetic souls was Detective William R. Kirk of the mendicant squad. Long experience with panhandlers of all types had taught him to be wary.

Cohen was arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct for soliciting alms and annoying passengers. He was sentenced by Magistrate Gottlieb to 30 days on Welfare Island.

Cohen's record which goes back to 1922, includes arrests on charges ranging from grand larceny to manufacturing and selling with intent to sell. He has been sentenced for periods of from five to fifteen years. It is one of the saddest of fates. Cohen, alias Benjamin Cohen, alias Frank Cohen, alias Fred Cohen, is a war veteran. The $25 a day he made is not one iota of his life's work.

Cohen's record shows that he was in the army during 1917 at Fort Snelling. He was assigned to Company F, First Infantry. He was later transferred to Company D, Third Infantry, and was sent to a hospital on September 18, 1918, as a result of a gas attack. He had been in a hospital since October 11, 1917. Here he contracted the "flu" and general hospital and was discharged October 2, 1918. Medical officers believed he had been suffering from influenza, which had been contracted in the army.

Cohen was released March 1, 1920, at Fort Detrick, Maryland, under the name of George Lawson, and deserted May 12, 1920, while serving as a private in Company K, Sixteenth Infantry. He later claimed disability and was awarded a pension of $13 a month. Examination after arrest proved that there is nothing more seriously wrong with Cohen than flat feet and dandruff.

On the joke book which had cost Cohen 25 cents and which he was selling for 10, was a picture of Cohen with crutches. At the top was the inscription, "Let us forget, F. C., 24 Div., 22d Inf., A. E. F." At the bottom of the cover, in still larger letters, was printed, "Trench feet, receive $13 per mo. compensation to support wife and himself. (Can both live upon it? If you think not, buy a veteran's joke book.)"

Wait 60 Years to Wed When Parents Object

Pedagogical, Sicily.—Marianna Maranzano waited sixty years to become Mrs. Pasquale Scanzano.

It was in 1868 that a coy maiden accepted the proposal of her fiance. But the girl's parents objected and the young man was told that he never would be permitted to wed the girl of his choice. Whereupon Pasquale left the home town to seek his fortune.

Recently he returned to his native village and found that Marianna, like himself, never had married. So they renewed their troth and the whole town turned out to witness a most unusual wedding.

Ithaca, N. Y., Dec. 20 (P).—A belief that the legal-trained mind is best fitted for leadership has prompted Myron C. Taylor, Chairman of the Finance Committee of the United States Steel Corporation, to give Cornell University $1,500,000 for the erection of a new building to house its law school.

Mr. Taylor was graduated from the law school in 1894 and is a member of the University's Board of Trustees.

Thirty years' experience as a member of the New York bar, he said in a letter conveying the gift, had emphasized in his mind the growing need for competent and well-trained lawyers to guide in the handling of the larger affairs of the country.

Mr. Taylor was in active legal practice only a short time after his graduation, going into industry, in which he rose rapidly. He is a director of many large corporations, including the New York Central Railroad Company.

Plans and sketches for Myron Taylor Hall, as the building will be known, have been prepared. It will be built at the south entrance to the campus, overlooking Cayuga Lake and the City of Ithaca.

Scot First Brought Navel Orange North

The United States owes the successful introduction of the navel orange to the late William Saunders, horticulturist. It is not certain, however, that the trees which were introduced by Mr. Saunders were the first which had been brought to the United States, though they were the first to come into successful bearing. The late Thomas Hogg of New York, in an account published in 1898, stated that about 1828 a wealthy Scotch planter in Brazil determined to manumit his slaves and remove with them to the United States. He settled on an island in middle or southern Florida and then returned to Brazil and secured a collection of plants for introduction, which he consigned to Mr. Hogg, who at that time conducted a nursery at the corner of Broadway and Twenty-third street, New York City. Among these plants were several navel orange trees. After the plants had been held in a greenhouse for a year, in order to allow them to recover from the effects of the long sea voyage which they had undergone, they were forwarded to the owner in Florida. During the Seminole war the owner was charged with giving aid and comfort to the enemy, and the entire collection of plants was destroyed by the United States troops. The owner then moved to Haiti.

Fatigue May Well Be Called Danger Signal

Industrious research has shown that the fatigued worker's output falls off, quality suffers, and carelessness develops. Accidents are most numerous shortly before quitting time, says Walter Freeman, professor of neurology at George Washington university.

Fatigue is a normal protective mechanism preventing overloading of the human organism, just as a fuse prevents overloading of an electrical circuit. The utterly fatigued person can not continue and must, therefore, stop in spite of himself.

The point of complete exhaustion is seldom reached. At a certain stage the "second wind" develops, and our minds, shutting out disturbing impressions, continue to function at a high level of efficiency and very economically, so that we can go along more or less automatically, depleting our energy reserves slowly.

Nature Will Out

The gods were once disputing whether it was possible for a living being to change its nature. Jupiter said "Yes," but Venus said "No." So, to try the question, Jupiter turned a cat into a maiden, and gave her to a young man for a wife. The wedding was duly performed, and the young couple sat down to the wedding feast. "See," said Jupiter to Venus, "how becomingly she behaves. Who could tell that yesterday she was but a cat? Surely her nature is changed." "Wait a minute," replied Venus, and let loose a mouse into the room. No sooner did the bride see this than she jumped up from her seat and tried to pounce upon the mouse. "Ah, you see," said Venus, "nature will out."—Aesop.

The Lily

Since the Twelfth century the lily has had precedence over every other growing thing in Christian art, and has symbolized purity. The lily of sacred art is sometimes called the Madonna lily. It is said to be a native of the Levant, but was spread with the spread of Roman civilization throughout Europe.

It is easy to understand why the lily stands for purity, with its straight and upright stalk, its plain, narrow, almost severe leaves, its simple and noble form, and the remarkably pure and luminous whiteness of its firm petals.

CRIMINAL RECORDS SHOULD BE CONSIDERED

December 19, 1923.

The Editor, Kingston Daily Freeman, Kingston, N. Y.

Dear Mr. Editor:

The Legislature of the United States will soon be arguing over the "National Origins" provision in the Immigration Act, which regulates the quota of immigrants from each foreign country. There seems to be little dispute as to the "National Origins" provision itself, but the bone of contention is "What particular Census of United States Citizens shall be taken as the basis? Judging by the various arguments put forward, there seems to be an entire lack of appreciation as to the valuable uses to which the present discriminatory system could be put.

This country contains some of the vilest human scum that it could possibly collect, as almost any day's newspaper will show, and it seems to me ludicrous, in view of this, to lay down a simple "National Origins" provision for immigrants regardless of all other considerations which may be so very important.

By all means let us use the "National Origins" provision as a basis, but in addition to that why not adjust the quotas year by year by progressive reduction of those countries' quotas who merely send us criminals. The criminal records of the country are carefully kept and might be easily used for this purpose. The Immigration Act, for instance, could set forth that at the end of every year the "National Origins" of every criminal (the particular crimes could be limited) should be used in order to make up an analyzed criminal list for each nation, and it could be provided that an average for each country be calculated. The quota figures of each country could then be adjusted for the ensuing year by deducting a certain number of thousands of immigrants for every per cent that a country's criminal list exceeds the average and by adding a certain number of thousands of immigrants for every one per cent that a country's criminal list is less than the average.

As an instance of the necessity for the discrimination suggested, the cabinet committee last year arrived at the astounding decision under the present method of fixing quotas, that the Turkish quota should be more than doubled whilst the Norwegian quota should be less than half what it originally was. I have no partiality towards any individual Norwegian; I have no Norwegian friends, but I am under the impression that a Norwegian would be a more desirable fellow countryman than a Turk.

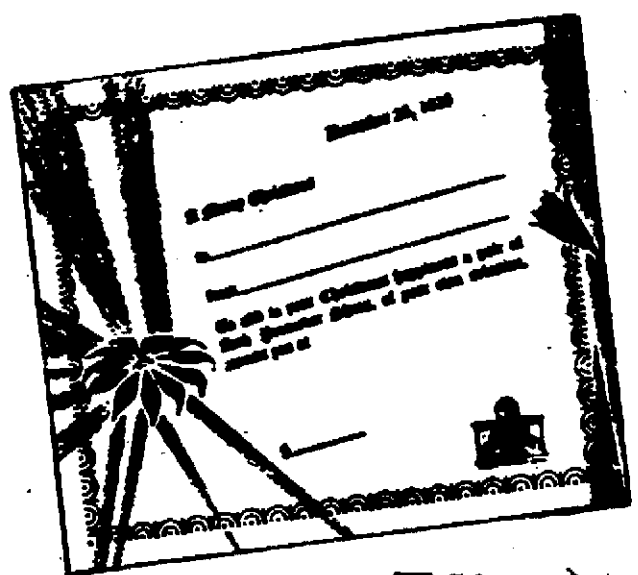

Very sincerely yours, X X

My idea of the rising generation is that they don't like to get up in the morning.

CASE BEST CHRISTMAS GIFT TO T.B. HOSPITAL.

The benevolent and charitable tendencies that the Holiday season brings about often take the form of gifts to the patients in the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital. A most acceptable form is cash, and with the money received a patient's welfare fund is accumulated that is used throughout the year for many different purchases, such as supplying the patients with little luxuries with dental work, with aid in getting on insurance, with materials for occupational therapy and numerous needs that would be otherwise unprovided for.

Any contributions can be made to Doctor Crispell, Superintendent of the Hospital, or directly to Mabel Boyce, president of the Ulster County Welfare Fund at the Hospital. The first gift received this season was $10 from the Home Bureau Cardiac.

—for HIM

It really isn't so difficult to find a Gift for Him, if you stop and think for a moment of his comfort and well being. What could be nicer than a pair of brilliantly styled Arch Preserver Shoes that will keep his feet comfortable? The Gift Certificate makes it easy for you to give Arch Preserver Shoes. He can select the style he wishes. Stop in and see us about it.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (ad.)

New York Prepares to Welcome Second Roosevelt As Governor

Albany, Dec. 20 (AP).—For the second time, a Roosevelt is to take the oath of office as governor of New York.

Once again the historic capitol, looking down from its 150-foot elevation above this old Dutch city, will see as a member of the Empire State and surrounding territory for the inaugural ceremony New Year's Day.

Already the clamor for tickets to the assembly chamber where the ceremony will be held has begun, but Robert Moses, secretary of state and executive director of ceremonies for the occasion, is said to entertain of all but the 1,500 carefully selected fortunate ones who are to be admitted. The rest of New York state and interested persons throughout the country will be enabled to listen to the noon-hour ceremony over the extensive radio hookup.

Once again, for 24 hours, Albany, long familiar with state functions, will lay aside its cloak of casual interest and will take on a festive excitement which will reach its climax only when Franklin Delano Roosevelt, fifth cousin of the late President

Franklin D. Roosevelt will be in-

The anticipation already is making itself felt throughout the city and hotels are flooded with requests for reservations. On New Year's Eve, hundreds of persons will throng the armory for the inaugural military ball.

The ceremonies of the inauguration proper will begin New Year's morning with a military parade in which units of the New York National Guard and the New York Naval Militia from all parts of the state will participate.

At noon, after all guests of honor have been announced by the sergeant-at-arms of the state assembly, and seated on the platform with the formal permission of the secretary of state, the governor-elect will enter the capitol with his honorary escort. This escort, some units of which will wear the picturesque uniforms of the war of 1812, will be composed of detachments of 12 men each from the Veteran Corps of Artillery, New York city; the Old Guard of the city of New York, with their towering black busbys, and the Troy Citizens' Corps.

Franklin D. Roosevelt will be in-introduced to the audience in the assembly chamber by the retiring governor, Alfred E. Smith. This constitutes an innovation in the historic procedure, the governor-elect having been introduced in the past by the secretary of state.

Governor Smith's address will be not only one of introduction, but something also of a valedictory. It will be his far-well to the people of New York state after a quarter of a century of almost unbroken service on Capitol Hill.

Then the governor-elect will take the oath of office. As his last word dies away, a signal will be flashed from a window to the capitol and a battery of artillery stationed on the capitol lawn will blaze forth the governor's salute, proclaiming to the awaiting crowds that the Empire State has a new chief executive.

Shot on Nature's Face

French Guiana is famous for infamous for Devil's land, the famous penal settlement. Three or four times a year a steamer leaves the prison of L'ile de la on the coast of Brittany loaded with the most dangerous prisoners gathered from the French prisons. They are taken to the so-called Isles of safety, off the coast of French Guiana, to toll under the tropical sun until they die or their terms are ended.

DREAD LEPROSY LOSING TERROR

Evidence Malady Is Under Control in U. S.

Carville, La.—Science is taking the terror out of one of the world's most dreaded diseases.

Regarded since the dawn of history as a living death, leprosy apparently is being brought within the list of curable maladies, and the leper is being given firm ground for hope.

"Lazarus" the cry of fear, horror and revulsion has come down the centuries. The fear has always been exaggerated to a greater or less degree, but has been none-the-less real in the minds of victims and those about them.

Within the last few weeks, eight patients have been released on probation from the National Leprosarium here, sent back to their homes no longer a menace to the public health. Since the institution was established by the United States public health service seven years ago, 37 have been released, and only one has suffered a relapse. Those released recently had been under treatment from two to seven years, and about 400 others remain.

Many of the bacteriological, chemical, pathological and clinical studies which have contributed to the advances made in treatment of the disease in recent years have been conducted by health service workers in Hawaii. Their principal achievement has been the development of chemical derivatives from chaulmoogra oil obtained from an Oriental tree which have increased its effectiveness in combating the leprosy germ.

The scientific studies also have established that the disease is communicated only by direct and usually prolonged contact with a victim. Casual contact, the investigators found, is not dangerous as it has been regarded, and they suspect that nasal secretions probably have most to do with transmission of the germs.

Statistical studies conducted in connection with the scientific work indicate that the number of cases of leprosy in the United States exceeds 1,000.

Took It Literally

A man who visits London annually says that he had occasion to go to a four-story building in the English metropolis. He entered the lift and 20 minutes later reached the third floor. In a facetious fashion he said to the elevator man, "Why don't you anchor this lift and move the building?" The elevator man looked at the stranger in a perplexed manner and then said, "But how can that be done, sir?"

The Leather Coat Wins Prominent Place in Sports World.

New York — In environments where once the raccoon coat was supreme there are rival entries, including not only furs difficult to identify but fur fabrics and leather, perhaps most important of all. Foreign women have long appreciated the good qualities of leather for stormy weather and for hard usage, but we have been slower in appreciating not only these sterling qualities but its chic as well.

While but a handful of women may buy their coats to match their motors, one of the fads of the year, there is no reason why a woman should not indulge her whim in color even if she chooses leather for her coat. Rich blues, purples, bright and dark greens, browns and practically all colors may be produced in leather and are smart—providing, of course, the costume is an ensemble in deference to the dominating shade.

(Copyright, 1928, by Fairchild.)

There are so many stunning sports furs this season that one feels no inclination to bewail her fate in not being able to afford sable. So much acclaim has been given the humbler furs that one welcomes a chance to wear them given by sports clothes. Mary's little lamb is having a trying time of it this year and finds itself not only popular in the school room where once laughed to scorn, but in more grown-up circles. All sorts of lamb, woolly and otherwise, is approved in all sort of ways and places. Such fat and curly pelts are smart for rough wear, and that they are dyed to match the fabrics they trim, as well as used to contrast with them, is apparent everywhere. Grey furs are momentarily eclipsing others.

Office Carbon Used for Scientific Work

New York.—How a piece of ordinary carbon paper, such as every office stenographer uses for duplicate letters, solved an exacting scientific problem is recorded in the metallurgy department of the Bell Telephone laboratories here.

The problem was to focus the ultra-violet microscope, which uses the rays at the blue end of the spectrum. These rays are invisible to the eye, but register on a photographic plate. The delicacy of the adjustment is indicated by the fact that the microscope photographs objects as small in diameter as two hundred or three hundred atoms, which is the closest to nothing that visibility has yet approached.

Francis F. Lucas, in charge of the work, observed that carbon completely absorbed the ultraviolet light, which meant that if a line of carbon sufficiently thin could be laid across the surface under the microscope, it would form an object of sufficient contrast to make focus possible. How to get such a line was solved, after considerable experiment, simply by laying a sheet of ordinary carbon paper face down on the specimen and drawing a line with a pencil on the back of the carbon.

Holds Dry Throats
Stop Birds' Singing

Washington.—Do birds stop singing because their throats are dry?

The possibility of something of the sort being the case is suggested by Dr. H. S. Reed of the citrus experiment station, Riverside, Calif., in a note to Science Service. He states that the California meadow lark sings occasionally in winter, and that such outbursts of song almost always come in damp weather, just before or after a rain.

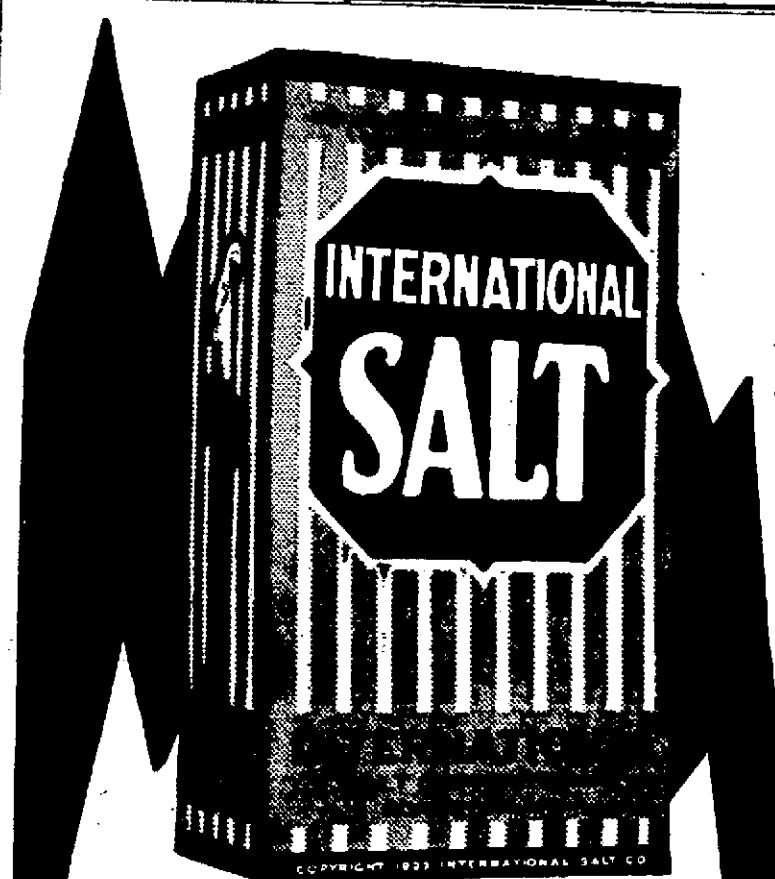

Doctor Reed also calls attention to a supporting observation made by Dr. William E. Ritter of the University of California, who has heard meadow larks singing all winter through at La Jolla, where the sea air is always humid.

Public Palace of Siena.

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.)

THERE are few places in the world where one may lay his hand so palpably on the Middle Ages as in Siena, Italy. When it is celebrating its great annual civic festival, the Palio. This is a pageant inherited from the Middle Ages, still held in costume of that period, and featured by the running of a strange, almost barbaric, horse race on the historic Campo, or great square.

For upward of four hundred years the little Tuscan city has been organized as it is now, in contrade, or wards, each a distinct and separate entity, though part of the common life. Each still clings to its own individual traditions, its own loves and hates, and is ready to rally to the same flag and colors that it has cherished for centuries.

This gives to Siena characteristic atmosphere, which more than anything, save its art, has contributed to center upon it the continued interest of the traveler.

As to the Palio, it is a remarkable manifestation of that keen, burning rivalry among contrades which has existed since their inception and which time and the passing of events have been unable to allay.

In seeking the origin of this strange horse race we must go back to the zest for sport, the spirit of gallant contest, and the love for pomp and display so prevalent in the Middle Ages.

Regular Event Since 1651.

The first Palio took place on the Campo in 1605 and has been regularly scheduled since 1651. In its present form, with all the contrade represented, and the distance established at three times around the big square, the race has been held since 1666.

It has been established almost beyond doubt that the Palio was introduced to celebrate a religious anniversary, the feast of Santa Maria Assunta, whose image is depicted on the banner bestowed upon the winner.

At one time Siena's 17 contrade all participated in the Palio, each entering one horse, but, owing to the frequency of serious accidents, experienced through the overcrowding of the narrow track, the number of contestants is now limited to ten. Seven of the contrade are privileged and run by "right," as they express it, while the three others are drawn by lot.

The horsemen ride bareback in the Palio, armed with a punishing whip, the nerbo, made of twisted, hardened ox sinew and measuring about three feet. This whip plays an important role. In the olden days a long, flexible one was used, and the competitors were allowed to wield it so as to entangle their opponents and throw them; but this practice is now forbidden.

The good Sienese, however, anxious to preserve the joustlike character of the race, have decreed that their champions may belabor one another with the heavy nerbo whenever the chance presents. To prevent fatal injury, the men are permitted to wear metal helmets; but, even so, the flailing weapons sometimes inflict wounds the marks of which are carried for weeks.

Three days before the meet, some 20 horses, voluntarily contributed by private individuals, are brought together and tried out. The ten most evenly matched are selected, and on the eve of the race the ward captains gather at the Palazzo and draw lots for them.

Men All Go to Mass First.

At last the great day dawns and the imperative summons of a sonorous bell tells us it is time to be stirring. The hour is only five, but the city is already in turmoil, as we sail forth under the cloudless sky.

The streets are packed from wall to wall, and following the streaming populace, we are led to the red velvet chapel on the Piazza, a shrine erected in thanksgiving for deliverance from the plague of 1348.

Mass is being celebrated and the little church is crowded with men.

only a few women hanging about the outskirts. Over the heads of the worshippers, we can see the ten riders, in full colors, kneeling shoulder to shoulder in front of the altar, the bitter rivalry of faction held in check during this brief interval of prayer.

Then the ceremony is over and we are again in the streets, now alive with the subdued roar of mustering thousands.

The alien in Siena is likely to set out with mild, amused curiosity; but it is impossible to resist the galvanic touch of the thrilling interest on all sides. And presently he will be asking himself to what quarter of town he belongs; which horse is his; who is to ride for him; what his colors are? These matters unexpectedly become of vital importance.

A few coppers will induce a passing lad to conduct one to the place where his horse is stabled. There he stands behind a wire netting, a glossy, clean-lined creature, with long, smooth running gear, a fine, intelligent head, and apparently in the pink of condition.

Meanwhile the young escort informs one that the racers are shortly to be blessed by the priest, the ceremony to take place in churches of the respective wards.

It is a most unusual ceremony. One enters the church, then behind him hears the stamp of hoofs on the pavement, then at the threshold. Up the church aisle the horse is led by the rider, to the steps of the altar. The Latin benediction is read; then holy water is sprinkled over the horse's head, and the ceremony is over.

Race Is Wildly Exciting.

Before the race there is a colorful procession of the delegations from the various contrade. It has been the usage ever since the Sixteenth century for these contrade to appear in full regalia on all momentous occasions. Each still sports the gorgeous costumes of the period and bears the ward banner, blazoned with the device originally adopted, such as the Lion, the Caterpillar, the Goose, the Ram, etc., which give to the various districts the names by which they are known. The procession, of course, has remained an important feature of the Palio.

Scarcely has the procession passed along the Campo when a great beating of drums announces that the mounted riders have come through the portals of the Podesta. The starting crack of the pistol comes suddenly, and in hurried ranks the racers spring forward, moving at terrific pace, their riders sitting as if a part of them—knees tight, bodies swaying nimbly, arms waving the wicked whips and administering great blows right and left.

Sparks and sand fly from the horses' hoofs; the crowd leans forward without a sound, thrilled and expectant. Then, abruptly, a cry of alarm breaks the silence. At the sharp turn by S. Martino, where the course slopes suddenly, a man is flung to the pavement, his horse stumbling and rolling over. A sigh of relief announces that by some miracle the rider has escaped.

Harder and harder the pelting horses strive, as the last lap is entered. The crowd hurries frenzied yells of encouragement or blood-curdling threats and curses at the riders.

When the race is over a roar of mingled triumph and bitter disappointment shakes the air. People swarm over the course, even before the last rider has finished, and the winning rider, is unceremoniously pulled off his mount and surrounded by the police, who thrust back friend and foe without distinction. Fractional feeding runs so high at this hour of pandemonium that more than once a knife stab has been the reward of the winning jockey.

Hurriedly the man is led before the judges to receive their congratulations. Then, while the delicious crowd surges about the square with lusty cries of "Palio! Palio!" and seizes the coveted banner to carry it in triumph through the streets, the hero of the day is hustled quietly to the Palazzo della Repubblica, there to spend the night under lock and key, beyond reach of knife and stiletto!

Cured His Rapture

I was badly ruptured while lifting a truck several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no long time, no trouble, have nothing to tell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation if you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 7774 Marcellus Avenue, Massapequa, N. Y. I better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of the rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.

Woodstock Folks Write of China

Word has been received from Mr. and Mrs. John Blomshield, who are at present in China, touring the world. The Blomshields, prominent among the social life at the Woodstock art colony, have written interesting accounts of their travels and experiences since leaving Woodstock.

Mr. Blomshield narrates how after a suspended mail-less month's our path and that of the post finally crossed, and tells that "our belated letters were carried to us—two rich, shawls full, like Iced Erian in the Sahara, or Chateau Yquem in the Tokai." He inserts a word for Woodstock friends as follows: "Those Blanches and Braces and Kramers and Mores and Mattisons and the rest, are (to use great restraint) perfect washouts as correspondents," and then compliments local papers on "sub-lit-ing for all our negligent gossip," coming fortunately, like the dawn.

Mr. and Mrs. Blomshield are going next to Java, then Borneo, Siam, stock, India, Afghanistan and Woodstock (U. S. A.). Mrs. Blomshield has written at length of the various difficulties encountered with travel in war-torn China. Her account is of sufficient interest to be repeated for readers, and is in part, as follows:

"The monsoon blew us here from Hongkong—it's hot and cosmopolitan beautiful. We go on to Java tomorrow."

"China in the midst of her evolution—Russia and Japan have had their growing pains and all are carrying on so splendidly—but poor war-torn China! To reach Tientsin from Tientsin we had to spend the night of a lighter with baggage and military police and no sleep. Then a chaotic train to Peking. Nanking is now the capital and as Peking meant 'northern capital' it has been changed to Peking, or 'peaceful' since the masks terrifying, the city. Everything is in a disorganized condition and grubby soldiers belonging to all kinds of armies are all over the place. We saw the palaces and museums and gorgeous silk bazars, but all so desolated. Then on to Nanking where the great B.C. wall wiggles all yellow against a blue, blue sky, over the crests of the mountains. Way in the distance was Mongolia—and here long trains of camels headed for the Gobi desert, ten miles away. But their barons looked beautiful gleaming in the sun.

"Shanghai is a bad, wicked city. Our time there was merely social. Then Hongkong. A friend there took us on his boat to Canton. There silk is woven, jade is carved, and ivory, our match boxes are made and firecrackers—a most industrious, sordid city.

"The Chinese people found my high-heeled shoes as amazing as I found their three-inch (literally) feet and pig-tails. Now I am going to buy some Chinese and Japanese records which I will play for you when we return."

ELEANOR BLOMSHIELD.

Contagious Abortion Is Most Dangerous Disease

Contagious abortion is a germ disease which, if it is not controlled, will go through an entire herd. The germs are usually carried from the fetus, or afterbirth, of a cow that has aborted, to the feed of other cows which in turn get the disease. The best way to control this disease is by cleanliness, isolation and disinfection.

As soon as a cow shows any signs of aborting she should be isolated from the herd and kept separate until all discharges have come away. The stall must be cleaned and disinfected as well as the hind quarters of the cow. The fetus and afterbirth must be burned or buried, the manure from the stall taken directly to a field to which cattle have no access. Care must be taken not to carry the germs of the disease from the stall where an infected cow stands to the feed of other cows. These germs are usually carried on the shoes of the attendant and on forks.

There is no known cure for this disease. All we can do is to control it by not carrying the germs to the feed of other cows.

It is always advisable to employ a competent veterinarian to help control the disease. It will not pay to sell a cow that has aborted, since any new cow coming into the herd will take the disease.

NOTICE TO STOCKHOLDERS.—The annual meeting of The Freeman Publishing Company will be held at the office of the company, Kingston, N. ## Bath Needed Protectors

By AD SCHMIDT

IN THE narrow precincts behind the cigar stand in the Mission House Dolly Dubie reigned as queen. Dolly was slender and ornamental. She knew how to make the best of a complexion and a situation and was never at a loss for words.

The men who came and went in front of her cigar counter, Dolly decided, were of a kind. They were so easily pleased with her arch banter, so readily influenced to purchase cigars, and so confident that they possessed the charm and abilities, should they care to exercise them, of breaking the heart of the malewoman.

It was Dolly's purpose to encourage them in their vanity. As each customer regarded himself as a particular friend and adviser of the appealing girl, the stand was popular and the sales mounted.

"Most places," she said, "they buy cigars. Here they get hot air thrown in for good measure and I'm telling you they eat it up."

When it was suggested that some day Dolly might forsake the stand to marry one of these men who leaned so confidently over her counter, she shrugged.

"In the first place," she said, "most of them are married already. My idea of a hero isn't the kind who makes wise cracks in the hotel lobbies. How would it be to go through life with a man who thinks you should be tickled pink every time he calls you 'sweetie'?"

"Yes, here you are, Mr. Lansing. I can never forget the kind of cigars you smoke." And Dolly interrupted her reflections by passing a box over the glass to one of the regular customers.

One day there approached a ruddy-cheeked young man who stepped briskly and spoke in a deep voice.

"One of those, please," he said, pointing to the case, and Dolly reached for the box. When he had gone she sighed.

"That's the way of it. When one of those real men from the wide-open spaces comes along, he does not stop to talk. If he did he would not be the kind I want and if he doesn't I can never know him. Gracious, us girls do have a perplexing time!"

Don Ramsey of the ruddy cheeks came back. Always in businesslike manner, he purchased a cigar and went his way with no more than a "thank you" for the girl who began to fashion romance from his appearance.

"He's a big strong man," she said, "and not the kind to hang over a counter for an hour at a time. But, all the same he is smoking too many cigars. I can't see how any man can use as many as he buys and still look so well."

And the big strong man was thinking of Dolly. The girl needed some one to look after her, he decided. She was too pretty and too intelligent to be smirking and smiling at every prospective customer. If he could get acquainted, now, without her thinking he was trying to be fresh, there might be something he could do. Well, anyway, he could buy another cigar.

While Don made his purchase Dolly scanned his face to see if there were visible any of the effects of too much smoking. Then she noticed that one of the buttons on his coat was hanging on but two strands of thread. The man needed some one who would care for these things, some one to advise him against reckless spending of money and too much smoking.

There is the saying that opposites attract. These two, opposite in everything except the desire to be protectors, were bound in sympathies before they had exchanged a single confidence.

"Of course," said Dolly when at last she braved the risk of offending him, "it is none of my business, which is selling this stock, but don't you think you are smoking too much?"

The man gazed at her soberly but, once started, the girl plunged on. "That button on your coat." Suddenly she felt she had gone too far. This man was so different from the rest.

"I was going to say if you care to bring the coat in tomorrow, any day, I'll fix it."

Still the man stared at her. Then with difficulty he spoke as if to make certain he had heard aright.

"You mean you have been worrying or thinking about me smoking too much and about that button?"

She nodded, but now she was confused. "I gotta get this right," he continued. "It's important. You see I've taken care of myself and the idea of some one sorta looking after me," he sounded then thrust out his hand. "Put her there, girl, there's two of us. Fd—I'd like to take care of you, too."

True happiness is of a retiring nature, and an enemy to pomp and noise. It arises, in the first place, from the enjoyment of one's self, and, in the next, from the friendship and conversation of a few select friends.—Addison.

Drunk English Law
The "act of pains and penalties" is an act of legislation passed in England providing for the imposition of punishment without trial upon anyone clearly guilty of treason or similar serious crimes. No capital punishment, however, can be imposed under this statute. In the United States such legislation never has been enacted, nor ever could be, since there is a constitutional clause forbidding all bills of attainder.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Dec. 20 (P).—Heavy selling came into the stock market today, coincident with the beginning of the widely-predicted year-end stiffening of money rates. Early gains of 2 to 10 points were cut down, or wiped out, and several issues sold 3 to 14 1/2 points below yesterday's final quotations. An irregular recovery took place in the early afternoon.

Call money renewed at 7 per cent and advanced to 8 when banks called $15,000,000 in loans. Time money held firm but another advance of 1/4 of 1 per cent was made in bankers' acceptances.

Violent fluctuations in some of the high priced specialties featured the early trading. Radio jumped 10 points to 255, Montgomery Ward moved up 4 points to 127 1/2, fell to 131 1/2, and rebounded to 135. Wright Aeronautical ran up 7 points to 242, tumbled to 250, rebounded to 255 and then fell back again. International Nickel advanced 2 1/2 points to 249 1/2, fell to 255 and rebounded to 262 on the announcement of merger negotiations with Monds Nickel of Canada.

National Tea dropped 10 1/2 points below last night's close, and Abitibi Power, American Smelting, American Radiator, Allied Chemical, Granby Copper and Curtiss sold down 3 to 5 points.

In the early afternoon, Victor Talking Machine was brought upward by operators for the advance and marked up 6 points, presumably in expectation of an early announcement of merger terms with the Radio Corporation. Johns-Manville climbed 6 1/2 points, and Spicer Manufacturing was marked up 4 1/2 to a new high at 48. Yellow Truck, North American and American Zinc were marked up 3 to 4 points.

Except for the declaration of a couple of extra dividends and an increase in the annual dividend on Magna Copper from $3 to 4, there was little in the day's business news to influence the price movement. The Kansas City Southern and Erie Railroads reported substantial net gains in their November earnings statements, but the rails took little part in the day's trading.

The tenth funicular railway of Austria, recently opened, leads from Innsbruck Dolomites, the fine mountain range behind the Tyrolean capital. The view from there is one of the most beautiful in the Austrian Alps.

Allowing a Sunday
I was in the Old w. 14 garden of a friend near a sleepy Huntingtonshire town when I made the discovery, says a writer in the London Chronicle. Seeing an old sundial, I went across, as a humane would, and compared the time shown with my watch. I was startled to find that the sundial registered the correct time! My friend, full of wisdom, explained that as a sundial could, anyway, only be read in the summer time, he decided to have his corrected for British summer time. The idea was bright enough, no doubt, but to me the action had rather the air of meddling with eternal things.

Recover Bodies of Six Miners

Drakesboro, Ky., Dec. 20 (P).—Drakesboro, one of the numerous mining villages in the coal fields of Kentucky, was in deep mourning today as plans were being made for the funerals of the six victims of Tuesday's explosion in the Diamond Mining Company's mine.

Most of the dead were married and separate funerals were planned to be held Friday or Saturday.

Recovery of the bodies, nearly a mile from the entry, was not accomplished until large groups of rescue workers had virtually exhausted themselves in the long, hazardous struggle against a heavy bank of debris which closed the only avenue of escape to the six men following the gas explosion. The rescue party also braved the dangers of deadly black damp.

About the Folks

CHANGE IN MAP OF COUNTRY POSSIBLE

History of National Development Outlined.

Washington, Dec. 19.—A general realignment of state boundaries, including the creation of new states and, perhaps, the disappearance of some, is a possibility. Whether or not the consolidation of states would equal the divisions is uncertain, but any such plan would be more likely to add stars to the blue field of the American flag and members to the United States senate.

No nation grows according to pre-conceived plan. At one time in the early history of America, Charleston, S. C., was as important a port as New York city, and even Alexandria, Va., was nearly so. Yorktown, Va., now a town of only 500 inhabitants, was an important port of entry. Benjamin Franklin, in his autobiography, tells of a contemporary of his who refused to buy a dwelling and instead rented a house or lodgings because of his firm conviction, lasting throughout his life, that Philadelphia could not possibly increase in size but would dwindle away and investors in real estate would lose.

Growth is problematical. It must be remembered that these cities were in existence under the British crown for about the same length of time they have been under the American flag and yet the new republic was several decades old before it became a certainty that New York was to be the metropolis of the Western world.

It took more than two centuries for New York to reach an undisputed place in the front rank of American cities. It is possible that, with the development of air transportation, some other city, Chicago, perhaps, or St. Louis, might yet outdistance her.

So state lines laid down generations ago do not fit as well now as they did originally and there is occasional agitation for drastic changes. That other people in the world besides Americans are interested is revealed by the fact that the proposal to make New York city and its environs a separate state was the subject of a paper read before a recent meeting of the British Association for the Advancement of Science.

The erection of New York into a new state would be the most important of state-line changes. The idea is by no means new. Fernando Wood, elected mayor of New York city in 1851, in the course of his inaugural address, declared his belief that the city should be separated from the state of New York or, perhaps, even from the United States itself, becoming a free city under no sovereignty save its own, as were the famous free cities of Europe in earlier times.

Cause Disarmament.

The reasons are both political and economic. New York city is Democratic and because of its huge population often elects a Democratic governor and state officers. The rest of the state is normally Republican, usually returning a Republican legislature. This means a certain amount of disharmony. New York city pays an enormous proportion of the total tax bill of the state and citizens of the metropolis pay for improvements, roads, public works and the like, in other parts of the state which they never use or even see.

A similar suggestion has been made in respect to St. Louis and its environs. It, too, is a great port and commercial center. In fact, St. Louis manufacturers and other business men, in their national advertising, already use the slogan, "The Forty-Ninth State."

Chicago has been proposed as another new state. Here, again, is a case in which there is a great metropolis paying a large share of the taxes of the state within which it lies. It is a lake port and, by way of the Welland canal, a seaport. It is the greatest railway center in the country. It is often of different political complexion from the remainder of the state.

It has been proposed to divide the vast state of Texas, which formerly was an independent republic, into four states. The area is so extensive that the type of people and the type of industry and agriculture in some parts is greatly different from that of others.

Topaz Supersaturation

Emblem of strength and friendship is the beautiful topaz—your birthstone if you were born in November. The ancients believed the power of the topaz increased as the moon increased; that it banished terrors of the night; protected the wearer during epidemics and strengthened the mind.

IN MANY INSTANCES THE LOWER PART OF THE SLEEVE IS ALL FUR

DARING novelty marks the styling of this season's fur-trimmed coats. Not only is the unusual expressed in the types of fur employed for trimming but it is also refreshingly interpreted through new ways of handling.

Collars, cuffs and borders are field to the whim of the designer with the result that a medley of new ideas is involved in their styling. Cuffs are especially capricious. So wide are many cuffs, that in many instances the entire lower part of the sleeve is of fur. Sometimes these very deep cuffs assume a picturesque cavalier flare. Then again they flare at the wrist in quaint bell fashion, as do the chinchilla-trimmed sleeves of the coat in which Kathryn Crawford, the screen actress, is posing for this picture. The coat itself is of black broadcloth. The fact that it is trimmed in chinchilla bespeaks its modishness, for the black coat furled with gray is conspicuously highlighted in the winter mode.

The gray-on-black idea carries on with fur of varied types. That is, a black broadcloth or suede wool is as apt to be contrasted with collar and cuffs of gray wolf or platinum fox or any of the long-haired showy varieties as it is with flat pelts such as caracul, astrakhan or gray shaved-lamb.

Ombre gray caracul on black is exceedingly smart, especially when it is handled in original ways, such as, for instance, a triangle scarf collar, perhaps, or a standing collar (one of the season's fads) which ties with a cravat bow and streamers of the fur. Speaking of black coats, the coat of black velvet is finding favor for dressy afternoon wear. Models of outstanding cabaret stress black velvet trimmed with black fur. Black broadcloth makes a handsome appearance worked in odd-shaped collar and cuffs, the broadtail further emphasized in that it forms insets around the border line or perhaps it is applied so that the coat is really made of the fur and velvet intricately interworked.

Sunday School League Results

In the Senior Sunday School games played at the Y. M. C. A. court Wednesday night, the Congregationalists defeated Albany Avenue 49 to 7. The Presbyterians received a beating from St. James 31 to 45 and the Redeemers beat the Comforters 28 to 24 in a closely fought battle. The last two games of the night were fast and interesting. In the St. James-Presbyterian game the winners held the upper hand by a big margin at half time but in the second session the Presbyterians began to play real basketball and threatened to take the lead several times.

The Congregationalists had a good night at scoring in their game with Albany Avenue. The latter team wasn't any match for their opponents and the score indicates the fact. The score at half time was 32 to 5 in favor of the Congregationalists. In the second half, Albany Avenue gathered only two points to add to their score while the winners continued to score rapidly and they collected 28 marks. Krum led the scoring list with 26 points and Cassell was a close second with 22. It was the usual big point getters on the Congregationalists that rolled up the score. The final tally was in favor of the Congregationalists 49 to 7.

The Presbyterians lost out in the race in the early part of their game with St. James. For some reason or other the Presbyterians played in former Sunday School League games. Although St. James is a strong quintet they should have given them a better game. The losers had only a field goal at the end of the first quarter and it was in the last few minutes of the second session that Niles made two shots from scrimmage. The score at half time was 26 to 6 in favor of St. James. It was in the last half that the Presbyterians found themselves and began to play basketball. They scored from all angles of the court and before St. James began to score in the second half their opponents were within two points of taking the lead. Several times the Presbyterians did this but failed to take advantage of their position. In the last part of the fourth quarter Stump and DuBois scored from all positions on the floor and by this rolled up a safe lead. The final score was St. James, 45, Presbyterians, 31.

The last game of the night was the hardest fought contest of the three games. At half time the Redeemers led 14 to 8. The Comforters had splendid pass work which kept the Redeemers from rolling up a big score as they usually do. The losers were handicapped by height. Messenger and Dittus are a good combination to be in the front line of any defense. Messenger blocked more passes than any one man has yet in the league. The Comforters fought to the end but they were behind when the final whistle blew, 28 to 24.

New Paltz Normal Trounces Beacon

New Paltz Normal School basketball team, somewhat handicapped by injuries, took the Beacon High School varsity into camp to the tune of 32-22 Friday night on the lower Hudson quintet's court. The Normal boys laid claim to the tilt in the second half, after being led 13-12 by the Beaconites at half time. Woodruff and Ruland of the Normal with 11 and 10 points respectively, were the leading scorers of the game.

Tonight the Normal School team will do battle with Newburgh Academy in the New Paltz school gym. Friday New Paltz will play its third game of the week, when the Normal representatives mix it with Liberty High School varsity at Liberty.

K. H. S. Will Meet Middies
All the DUSO League basketball teams except Kingston and Poughkeepsie have been defeated. The Maroon and White played its first DUSO game last Friday afternoon against Port Jervis and took them into camp 22 to 10 and they expect to do the same thing to Middletown Friday night when the locals play the Middies at their court. This is the league game that was supposed to be played on December 7, but due to the death of one of the Orange county team's players the tilt was postponed.

The local coach is drilling his men hard in order to get them in shape for their hard battle. As the days go on the boys are improving and it looks like a championship team.

Bottomley Most Valuable Player

IN A very close election, Jim Bottomley of the St. Louis Cardinals was the National League valuable player contest over Fred Lindstrom of the New York Giants by six votes. The final vote stood: Bottomley 70, and Lindstrom 70, out of a possible 80. Bottomley was first choice of four of the eight committees, while Lindstrom received three first place votes. It was so close that a decided switch in the ballot of one committeeman would have reversed the verdict and given the Giants first baseman the prize. But, at that, Bottomley earned first place from the fact that not one of the eight judges voted him lower than second, while Lindstrom had two eighth place ratings and one sixth place. It was that one sixth place ballot that may have cost Lindstrom the victory.

Burt Whitman of Boston, president of the Baseball Writers Association, who announced the result of the committee vote, called on the members for their ballot before the world series, so that Bottomley's showing in that struggle was not considered in this vote. It is not to be doubted that the St. Louis first baseman won this honor because of his incalculable value to his team during the first four months of the pennant race. Bottomley slumped in his hitting early in September and also in the world's series, but in spite of that he had the imposing total of 133 runs batted in for his credit for the season. He also led Hack Wilson for league leadership with 31 home runs. Then he batted out 20 triples and 42 two-baggers giving him a total of 93 extra base hits, an unduplicated leadership in his league as a slugger. He scored 124 runs himself, had ten stolen bases and took part in 140 games. His batting average was .325. Lindstrom, who pressed Bottomley so closely in the voting and had the greatest year of his league career, led his rival at the bat with an average of .358, but trailed him by a slight margin in all the other essentials of playing value.

Larry Benton, who pitched such wonderful ball for the Giants, and Grimes, the grand old veteran spitballer for the Pirates, and Critz, sensational second baseman for the Reds, were the runners-up to the two leaders. Grimes got 53 votes, and Benton and Critz 37 votes each. In addition to the honor of being voted the most valuable player in his league, Bottomley will receive a prize of one thousand dollars in gold from the National League as a token of his supremacy in the field of baseball endeavor.

Bottomley was born in Oglesby, Ill., twenty-eight years ago, and still makes that country town his home. He came straight from the sand lots and high school diamond of Oglesby to the St. Louis Cardinals, then under the management of Branch Rickey. He was farmed out to Mitchell in the Dakota league in 1920, spent 1921 on the Houston farm of the Cards and 1922 on the Syracuse farm. In the latter part of 1922, after minor league failures, injuries and successes, he was pronounced ready and came to the Cards to supplant Jacques Fournier at first base. Ever since then he has been regarded as one of the best first basemen in the league and one of its leading sluggers. His greatest batting year was in 1925 when he hit .367. He slumped in hitting the next year to .290, the only time he hit below .300. This season he carried his team through June and July with a tremendous burst of batting power and effectiveness. He slumped in late August and early September and was far from himself during the last world series. Bottomley is such a pleasant likable fellow that he is known to players and fans over the circuit as "Sunny Jim."

Sport Notes

Winnipeg's 1:57 1/2 is the fastest mile by a pacer since 1915.

Pelota, as now played in Spain, is claimed to be the fastest ball game in the world.

Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Army, Navy, Lehigh, Penn and Cornell are playing soccer.

Of course Rogers Hornsby could play second base for both teams, but then he'd never get to bat.

Tom Heeney says the next heavyweight champion of the world will be no other than Tom Heeney himself.

The Giants announce the unconditional release of Leslie Mann, thirty-five-year-old outfielder from Springfield, Mass.

John Merrick Kelly, wingman on the University of Chicago football team, has been elected captain of the 1929 Maroons.

The best tennis player in Mexico is Ricardo Tapia, and the best woman player is his sister. He is eighteen, and she is sixteen.

Man of sixty-four, playing golf for his health, drops dead. You've got to play a game for fun to get any real benefit from it.

George Kirby, a golf professional, recently made a record hole-in-one stroke—340 yards—on a course at Southampton, England.

So far as it can be determined from the figures at hand, about 170 1/2 ball players have been traded in their time for Rogers Hornsby.

School athletics have been made compulsory in France. At least two hours a week must be devoted to exercise in every public school.

The odd thing in the case of young Mr. Damit, the Chicago left guard, is that apparently he was not named by a head coach between halves.

Mike Gazella, Yankee insider, played one-half inning in the world's series and several games during the season, and drew $18,000 for his efforts.

Herbert Hoover, the next President of the United States, never makes a chance to see a football game, especially if Stanford, his alma mater, is one of the teams playing.

The fastest man in the Western league last year, Joe Robbit, was bought by Toronto. This year Seattle purchased Clarence Hetherly, third baseman, from Omaha. He was leading base stealer.

Layton Retains Billiard Crown

Chicago, Dec. 20 (AP).—The first double-cushion cue championship tournament at which the pocket billiards and three cushion billiards championships of the world were at stake ended in excitement early today.

Johnny Layton, the Missouri cue expert, retained the world's title in the three cushion tournament by winning the final match from Willie Hoppe, 50 to 23, in 22 innings. The pocket billiards title, which also was to have been settled last night, remains in dispute.

Frank Taberski, Schenectady, protested to the National Billiards Association following his interrupted match with Ralph Greenleaf, the champion, charging that Greenleaf violated the rules by leaving the room twice during the playing of their match.

While Layton and Hoppe were settling the three cushion title, the committee was wrangling over the Taberski match.

The final decision of the committee was that Taberski and Greenleaf should meet again tomorrow night. Greenleaf needs a victory over Taberski to clinch retention of the title. A victory for Taberski would result in a tie.

Third place in the pocket billiards tournament went to Erwin Rudolph of Chicago when he defeated Pasquale Nallie, 125 to 123, in 37 innings. Otto Reisel, former champion, took third place in the three cushion tournament.

The match on which the world's championship rested broke up in a row when Taberski, exasperated by the delays, speeches and posturing of Greenleaf, unjoined his cue and demanded a forfeit. Taberski's withdrawal came as the climax of a series of minor clashes that terminated when Greenleaf left the room for the second time, contrary to the rules. Previously Taberski had entered a protest when both Greenleaf and Referee Joe Orr had called an obvious combination shot wrong.

The committee, in ruling that the game be replayed, decided that Referee Orr had erred in permitting the champion to leave the arena the second time.

HIGH SCHOOL SENIORS DEFEAT FACULTY QUINTET

In a hard fought and closely contested game Wednesday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. court, the Senior five of Kingston High School defeated the Faculty, who recently triumphed over the K. H. S. Seconds. The game was marked by frequent fouls and at times appeared ragged. In the end, however, the superior stamina and agility of youth allowed the seniors to forge ahead of their intellectual masters and win by the score of 21 to 15.

Manager Bill McCall will take his St. Peter's quintet to Ellenville Christmas night to mix it with the celebrated Wanderers of that community. It is understood that St. Peter's will be made up of the following players: Dan Joyce and Jimmy Carpenter, forwards; Pete Bruck, center and Chet Nelson and Tommy Davitt, guards.

NEW PALTZ

New Paltz, Dec. 20.—The cornerstone for the new Methodist Church will be laid on Thursday, January 19.

The annual Community Christmas service will be held at the Normal School at eight o'clock Sunday evening, December 23. As usual the churches of the village are joining with the Christmas committee in this service. This year the Rev. J. Robert Halmshaw will give the address.

Edwin Curtis and family and Mrs. Mary E. Kallien visited relatives in High Falls on Sunday.

D. V. S. Bogert of New Paltz was the guest speaker at the turkey dinner of the members of the Chamber of Commerce of Highland at the New York restaurant on Monday evening.

Miss Ada Berning of Scotia was a week-end guest of Miss Viola Buhmmaster at Lot-in-Dell on the New Paltz and Highland road.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mac Laury have chosen New Paltz, which was Mrs. Mac Laury's girlhood home, to be their home for the future. They have completed the remodeling of Mrs. Mac Laury's house on Huguenot street south. A sun parlor and sleeping porch have been added, and an attractive apartment finished on the first floor.

Rachel Anson of this village has purchased Maple Hurst, a large 50-room boarding house in the Catskills at Haines Falls, and will take possession about May 1. The house is very nicely located, having a high elevation with a wonderful mountain view, large maple trees for shade, and the best of mountain water to supply the house.

Miss Myra Gerald was the leader at the Epworth League meeting Sunday evening, December 16, in the Methodist Church. Topic, "That Glorious Song of Old."

Authorities used to say that taking care of 1,000 fowls was enough to keep one man busy. Guy Gardner in his new poultry house designed by him gives 3,000 birds excellent attention in two and a half hours a day. The plant is four stories. The fourth floor is a feed room. The first, second and third floor each accommodate 1,000 birds. An electric elevator runs from the first floor to the second, third and fourth floors. The mash is dumped into shoots on the fourth floor and runs into hoppers on the floors below. Jamesway electrically heated fountains have the water piped to them. Chutes for carrying the scratch feed from the feed room above to the lower floors, and tracks and cars running the droppings are to be installed soon.

The lawsuit which grew out of a violation of the village traffic ordinance relative to the red and green lights has been settled out of court. The defendants came to New Paltz in a conciliatory mood and requested the village to allow him to make a settlement. The attorney for the village of New Paltz after a conference with some of the village fathers finally consented to permit the defendant to post cash bail of $12.25 which included costs to date and $5, and let the defendant go his way. This sum the defendant forfeited by his non-appearance on the adjourned date. The defendant stated that had he realized on the day he violated our traffic ordinance what he now knows he would never have involved himself in the suit.

Monday evening, December 17, Burton Holmes gave the Lyceum Course lecture in the Normal Auditorium; subject was "Happy Hawaii".

On Saturday at 8:30 a. m. the ambitious members of the Outing Club started a long hike to Minnewaska. All members who were doubtful of their endurance ability were requested not to make the trip.

The Clifton Sorority reports its bazaar and supper held last Wednesday was a decided success. Many people attended and they were pleased with the appropriate gifts which were on sale, and also commented on the tasteful decorations which were used to make the house take on a festive holiday look.

Thursday afternoon the student body were pleasantly entertained in chapel by Dr. Sigmund Spaeth, noted musical authority. He spoke in an engaging manner and from the reception accorded him it is hoped that Dr. Spaeth will duplicate his visit here in the near future. School will close on Friday, December 21, for two weeks of vacation, giving opportunity for all the students to return home and enjoy the festive season. School re-opens January 7. This will leave three comparatively short weeks before the end of the first semester, which marks half-way point in the school year. The Senior Prom comes on January 26.

The Boy Scouts of Gardiner were guests at the movies in Colonial Hall Monday evening.

Ruth Seward is confined to her home with chicken pox.

The Christmas entertainment will be held in the Reformed Church Thursday evening, December 20.

Through the courtesy of David Jewett and the cooperation of the Central Hudson and Daniel Lawrence the Community Christmas tree will be lighted again this year. Not one cent of the money collected by the Christmas committee has ever gone to defray the costs pertaining to the tree. As a matter of fact the Central Hudson has donated the electricity, Mr. Lawrence has given his services and Daniel Gaffney in the past, and now David Jewett has produced the tree.

St. Joseph's Children of Mary.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Children of Mary of St. Joseph's Church, on Sunday, the following officers were elected: President, Miss Genevieve Scanlan; vice president, Miss Marie Leahy; secretary, Miss Catherine Laux; treasurer, Miss Anna O'Rourke; organist, Miss Margaret Messinger.

"Coffee Jake" Rich.

Pittsburgh, (P).—Stanislaus Zoch, known as "Coffee Jake" in Pittsburgh years ago when he conducted a coffee house here, left an estate valued at $775,000, his will probated here disclosed. He died in Los Angeles.
